Governor Protests Attempts to Push Budget Reduction

Lehman Says Slashes Involve Many Highly Important Questions of Charter Law and Policy

Hanley Speaks

Senate Majority Chief Says Republicans Determined on Plan

Albany, N. Y., April 26 (AP)—Governor Lehman protested today any attempt by Republicans to "jam through" their proposed reductions of his $415,000,000 budget which he said involves "many highly important questions of constitutional law and governmental policy."

"The matter is of too great an importance for any responsible group of men to railroad and jam the budget of the state of New York through the legislature without giving adequate opportunity for careful study and consideration," he declared in a message to lawmakers.

"So that there may be no misunderstanding of my views in the matter—and I believe I am speaking for the people of the state," the governor asserted, "I earnestly urge that before any action is taken on the proposed legislative budget sufficient time be given for its consideration and for a study of the very important governmental and constitutional principles involved."

His message was received as increasing probability of a legislative vote on a sales tax for relief appeared to enhance chances for speedy approval of Republicans' $300,000,000 budget slash and tax program.

Hanley's View

Senate Majority Leader Joe R. Hanley immediately voiced Republican determination "to go through with the present plan," adding the senate would vote on the proposed budget Friday afternoon.

He attacked the governor's assertion that the public was not thoroughly acquainted with the proposed reductions, declaring the large volume of mail pouring into the capital opposing some cuts proved the public "is well informed."

Hanley, asserting the "Republicans have been faced with an unprecedented situation" in handling the executive budget, added "no budget ever has been considered more carefully."

Declaring his own "line item" budget has been before the legislature and open to public scrutiny for three months, the governor said he had not seen the proposed Republican "lump sum" budget until this morning and "the legislature itself—save for a few members—has not seen the proposed budget."

"The two chairmen of the legislative finance committees have already announced," he said, "that at least some of the items which have been eliminated or reduced in the legislative budget may be restored in the supplemental appropriation or by special bills."

Take It, Leave It

Administration Is Ready to Place Wagner Proposals Before House Members

Washington, April 26 (AP)—Administration leaders went ahead today with plans to bring proposed amendments to the wage-hour law before the House on a "take it or leave it" basis.

After the House labor committee endorsed the projected changes 16 to 2 yesterday, Democratic leaders agreed to adopt rarely-used parliamentary tactics which would prevent any modifications or additions to the amendments.

Chairman Norton (D., N. J.) said the amendments would be called up either next Monday or May 15 under suspension of the rules. This not only would preclude changes, but would limit all debate to 40 minutes, and would require a two-thirds majority vote for passage.

The amendments permit workers in certain agricultural operations to work unlimited hours for 14 weeks in any year and 60 hours weekly the rest of the time.

Newspaper publishers of the nation gather at the New York World's Fair for the dedication of the statue in the foreground, symbolizing freedom of the press. In the background are the trylon and perisphere. The statue, executed by Leo Friedlander, is one of four at the fair, symbolizing freedom of press, religion, assembly and speech.

Reorganization Plan Gets Hearty Approval

Congress Mostly in Favor of Program, Although Certain Objections Are Heard to Specific Changes—Little Possibility Seen That Congress Would Veto Proposals

Washington, April 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt's first proposals for government reorganization met widespread approval in congress today, although a few members objected to specific changes.

Senator King (D.-Utah) said that if he found the plan would not promote economy and efficiency, he would offer a resolution to reject it. Some house Republicans took a similar attitude.

Even the critics, however, saw little possibility that congress would veto the program, which would combine into three huge agencies the public works, social security, and lending functions of the government. The consolidations will become effective in 60 days unless both senate and house disapprove.

Predicts Acceptance

Democratic Leader Barkley of the senate predicted an overwhelming acceptance, and Republican Leader McNary said that "if the plan spells economy and simplification in government, it will be warmly embraced by the congress."

Mr. Roosevelt placed the economies at $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 a year out of the $235,000,000 which the various units involved now spend. This will result, he told reporters yesterday, from such things as eventual personnel reductions, smaller rental costs, and restricted material needs.

Among the criticisms voiced was one from Rep. Michener (R.-Mich.) and Senator King, who said certain features of the plan seemed to perpetuate emergency agencies.

Rep. Fish (R.-N.Y.) opposed putting the reconstruction finance corporation in with the relief agencies, and Rep. Gifford (R.-Mass.) expressed doubt about giving it a permanent status.

Still In Country

James L. Houghteling, commissioner of immigration, disclosed that 5,779 Germans and Austrians who had come through Ellis Island as visitors since July 1, 1934, were still in this country under valid visas or extensions. Of this number, 833 were listed as Jews.

The length of time a visiting alien may spend here is determined originally by immigration officials when he arrives and explains the purpose of his trip. These same officials are empowered to grant extensions, the average length of which is six months. There is no limit to the number of extensions that may be granted.

In addition to those visitors remaining here under valid extensions, Houghteling said there were about 444 Germans and 38 Austrians who had stayed without permission.

"We're looking for every one of those," he declared.

Hitler Won't Alter His Reichstag Speech, No Matter What British Do

Mussolini Is Only Foreigner Who Knows What Fuehrer Will Say—Assurance Given That Speech Will Be Positive as Concerns Roosevelt and World's Future

Berlin, April 26 (AP)—Adolf Hitler has completed the text of his Friday Reichstag speech and intends to stick to it, no matter what Britain does, a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman said today.

One foreigner knows what Hitler will say when he addresses the Reichstag and the German nation in reply to President Roosevelt's appeal for guaranteed non-aggression—and that foreigner is Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Il Duce has been advised of every step in the Fuehrer's preparations.

British Monarchs Say They'll Keep 'Date'

London, April 26 (AP)—Nothing short of a declaration of war will make "the slightest difference" in plans for the North American trip of King George and Queen Elizabeth, Buckingham Palace sources said today.

Palace officials said there had been no change in original plans for the departure May 6 for Canada and the United States aboard the battle cruiser Repulse and only "something pretty serious" could alter them.

Other informed sources, however, said Prime Minister Chamberlain would of alternate arrangements in case it were considered necessary to keep the Repulse near home.

Crooner Crosby Totes Revolver

Federal Agents Meanwhile Check Upon Threats to Kidnap 4 Children

Hollywood, April 26 (AP)—Crooner Bing Crosby carried a gun today while agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as usual refusing comment on their activities, probed a kidnap threat against the four children of the actor-sportsman and his wife, the former Dixie Lee of the films.

Floodlights illuminated the Toluca Lake estate of the screen and radio star and armed guards patrolled the grounds as Crosby admitted he had conferred with G-men but disclaimed great concern, declaring "it's really nothing unusual; we get these (threats) every once in awhile and don't pay much attention to them."

Gives No Details

He explained that FBI agents had asked him not to discuss details of the case, but added:

"I'm still carrying a gun. Neither he nor government investigators would discuss the nature of the threats. Spokesmen at the singer's studio (Paramount) denied a report that one demand was made for $100,000. Everett Crosby, Bing's brother and business manager, said a threatening letter had been received in fan mail about 10 days ago "was disposed of in routine manner."

Crosby and his dark-haired wife are the parents of Gary Evan, 6, Philip Lang and Dennis Michael, 5-year-old twins, and Harry L., Jr., 18 months. Five years ago a threat was received

Ulster Might Be In New Diocese Of Roman Church

Proposed Regional Change Would Eliminate Seven Counties North of New York City

Ulster county may become a part of a new diocese in the Catholic Church if a plan currently being discussed is carried out by Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, recently named successor to the late Cardinal Hayes.

A proposed reorganization of the New York archdiocese would take in Queens and eliminate the counties of Westchester, Ulster, Sullivan, Rockland, Orange, Putnam, Dutchess and Columbia. The latter then would become a new diocese, probably with Bishop Stephen J. Donahue in charge.

It is being reported in Catholic circles that one of the new archbishop's first moves may be the supervision of this reorganization.

Queens would be transferred from the Brooklyn diocese to the New York archdiocese and Staten Island would be included in the Brooklyn diocese. It is expected also that Bishop Thomas E. Molloy of Brooklyn might then succeed Bishop Spellman in Boston.

It is expected that the new archbishop will be installed at a solemn pontifical Mass in St. Patrick's Cathedral on or near May 4, the date of his 50th birthday.

Bishop Francis J. Spellman, archbishop-elect of the New York diocese, said today that imperative engagements would prevent him from taking over his new duties until May 18, at least.

'World War Babies' To Be Trained Six Months for Service

Men Aged 20 and 21 Under Conscription; Chamberlain Says Move Will Impress World

Ready to Discuss

Prime Minister Says Britain Ready for Worthwhile Peace Talks

London, April 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain, in a statement carefully timed to precede Chancellor's Hitler's address in Berlin Friday, announced to Parliament today that around 310,000 men aged 20 and 21 will be compelled to train annually for the British army.

Announcing that the first of Britain's "World War babies" would train for six months and then be given a choice of entering the territorial army (national guard), or the army reserve, Chamberlain said he decided on conscription "to impress the world" with the nation's determination to resist any attempt at European domination.

Ready to Talk

He earlier said during questioning, however, that Britain was ready to discuss a "general settlement" with the German government if it satisfied it was "welcome" and "likely to have useful results."

He told questioners also that his government was ready to participate in any world conference, although no specific invitation had been received from President Roosevelt, who appealed to Italy and Germany for a 10 to 25-year peace agreement.

The prime minister said he would introduce a bill next week to put conscription into force, and the opposition Labor party announced immediately it would fight the bill. It generally was believed, however, that Chamberlain would have no trouble in getting it passed.

Chamberlain prefaced his conscription announcement with a promise to introduce a "no war profits" bill.

He said British envoys to Germany, Italy, the United States, British allies and the dominions had been instructed to advise the governments to which they were accredited of the conscription program.

'This Is Not Peace'

The prime minister brushed aside previous promises not to enforce military service in peacetime by saying, "war is not at war" but no one can pretend that this is peacetime in any sense in which the word can be fairly used."

He also announced that it would be necessary to call up "certain territorial and non-regular air force personnel" to reinforce the nation's anti-aircraft defense during the present period of tension "which may last for a considerable length of time."

The new conscription bill, he said, would be introduced for three years, with a provision to extend it if necessary.

Lord Snell, a labor leader, said that the government "has no excuse for breaking its promise not to introduce conscription in peacetime" and that "the labor movement feels it has been betrayed."

Cardinal's Award

Thomas E. Dewey Winner of 1938 Medal for His American Contribution

Champaign, Ill., April 26 (AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney of New York county, has been named the 1938 winner of the Cardinal Newman award, bestowed annually for "outstanding contribution to the enrichment of American life."

A gold medal commemorating the late John Henry Cardinal Newman will be presented to the prosecutor next Tuesday by the Newman foundation of the University of Illinois.

The citation said Dewey's war on crime was a contribution to the whole nation.

"His work in the rehabilitation of public prosecution, in the crushing of rackets, in securing the conviction and imprisonment of agents of arrogant corruption and sinister influence, in guarding the forces of law and order with new vigor and effectiveness, has been one of the most outstanding contributions in recent years to American law and welfare," the citation added.

Senate Approves Measure to Give Hudson River Communities Sewage Breathing Spell

Albany, April 26 (Special).—Approval of the Senate has been given to the bill of Senator William F. Condon, of Yonkers, amending the public health law, providing that an order of the State health commissioner to a municipality, corporation or person responsible for water pollution, directing discontinuance of the pollution, shall not be valid until the legislature shall have appropriated a sum sufficient to permit the state to share 30 per cent of the cost to the municipality.

The bill, which now goes to the Assembly for concurrence, is identical with one offered in the lower house of the legislature by Assemblyman James E. Owens, of Ossining, which was abandoned earlier in the session in favor of a measure sponsored by Assemblyman J. Edward Conway of Kingston. The Conway bill, backed by Owens and other legislators from communities along the Hudson river banks which have been ordered to commence construction of sewage disposal plants in order to stop pollution of the Hudson, would have prevented orders of the state health commissioner for such construction from becoming effective until January, 1944.

Upon recommendation of the State Health department, however, the governor has vetoed the Conway measure.

The temporary abandonment of the Condon-Owens measure was decided upon, it is understood, in order to present a solid and united front for the Conway bill, which seemed more likely to secure favorable consideration by the legislature and the governor since it would not entail any state expenditure.

With the executive disapproval of the Conway bill, however, legislators representing counties bordering the Hudson river are determined to make a second attempt to secure some "breathing spell" for communities, such as Kingston, who have been ordered to begin construction of sewage disposal plants.

Opposition of Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, of Kingston, to immediate construction of a plant is based upon the grounds that such construction would place an unwarranted additional tax burden upon taxpayers of the city. Similar views have been taken by officials of Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Beacon and Peekskill.

'World War Babies' To Be Trained Six Months for Service

Men Aged 20 and 21 Under Conscription; Chamberlain Says Move Will Impress World

Ready to Discuss

Prime Minister Says Britain Ready for Worthwhile Peace Talks

London, April 26 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain, in a statement carefully timed to precede Chancellor's Hitler's address in Berlin Friday, announced to Parliament today that around 310,000 men aged 20 and 21 will be compelled to train annually for the British army.

Announcing that the first of Britain's "World War babies" would train for six months and then be given a choice of entering the territorial army (national guard), or the army reserve, Chamberlain said he decided on conscription "to impress the world" with the nation's determination to resist any attempt at European domination.

Ready to Talk

He earlier said during questioning, however, that Britain was ready to discuss a "general settlement" with the German government if satisfied it was "welcome" and "likely to have useful results."

He told questioners also that his government was ready to participate in any world conference, although no specific invitation had been received from President Roosevelt, who appealed to Italy and Germany for a 10 to 25-year peace agreement.

The prime minister said he would introduce a bill next week to put conscription into force, and the opposition labor party announced immediately it would fight the bill. It generally was believed, however, that Chamberlain would have no trouble in getting it passed.

Chamberlain prefaced his conscription announcement with a promise to introduce a "no war profits" bill.

He said British envoys to Germany, Italy, the United States, British allies and the dominions had been instructed to advise the governments to which they were accredited of the conscription program.

'This Is Not Peace'

The prime minister brushed aside previous promises not to enforce military service in peacetime by saying, "we are not now at war" but no one can pretend that this is peacetime in any sense in which the word can be fairly used."

He also announced that it would be necessary to call up "certain territorial and non-regular air force personnel" to reinforce the nation's anti-aircraft defense during the present period of tension "which may last for a considerable length of time."

The new conscription bill, he said, would be introduced for three years, with a provision to extend it if necessary.

Lord Snell, a labor leader, said that the government "has no excuse for breaking its promise not to introduce conscription in peacetime" and that "the labor movement feels it has been betrayed."

Cardinal's Award

Thomas E. Dewey Winner of 1938 Medal for His American Contribution

Champaign, Ill., April 26 (AP).—Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney of New York county, has been named the 1938 winner of the Cardinal Newman award, bestowed annually for "outstanding contribution to the enrichment of American life."

A gold medal commemorating the late John Henry Cardinal Newman will be presented to the prosecutor next Tuesday by the Newman foundation of the University of Illinois.

The citation said Dewey's war on crime was a contribution to the whole nation.

"His work in the rehabilitation of public prosecution, in the crushing of rackets, in securing the conviction and imprisonment of agents of arrogant corruption and sinister influence, in girding the forces of law and order with new vigor and effectiveness, has been one of the most outstanding contributions in recent years to American life and welfare," the citation added.

Stahlman Says Publishers Must Give Cooperation

New York, April 26 (AP)—President James G. Stahlman of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today that the capacity of the press to resist "criticism, misjudgment and assault" lay in the "measure of confidence and respect which we may deserve and receive from the public and in our financial ability to provide the services required of us."

In an address before the association's annual convention, Stahlman, who is publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, added the press must "at all times strive to render the highest type of public service."

At the same time he said, publishers must "work together unceasingly to increase the efficiency of our operations and to endeavor to win for the daily newspaper a share of advertising appropriations commensurate with its capacity to serve, to stimulate and to foster the legitimate activities of American business."

The time had come, he declared, when "the newspapers of this country must bring their influence and their dollars to the task of regaining the leeway in advertising revenues lost through failure to adequately meet the changing currents of abnormal times which less favorably endowed competing media have so successfully turned to their advantage."

"The daily newspaper," he went on, "occupies a unique place in the social, political and economic life of the nation. To discharge its duties and serve the public satisfactorily it must be free and financially competent. Its freedom, which is one of its primary privileges of the publisher but the prerogative of the reader, must be safeguarded against continual cost and sacrifice against predatory interests, political and private, by whom it has been assailed from the time the printing press was invented down to the present day."

"If there is one thing that is badly needed it is a public relations campaign on the part of the newspapers of this country. We do more to promote the other fellow's business and less to promote our own than any crowd I know."

"We must not only promote the newspaper as a medium for the advertiser, but we must endeavor to sell it to the people as an agency of free expression and as their valued public servant. We must present a united front to the blatherers and demagogues. The press not only must assert its freedom, it must constantly defend it."

Store for Women to Open Soon as Specialty Shop

The Mayfair, which promises to be one of Kingston's finest shops, will open early in May at 280 Fair street, with Louise Cobb as the trade name owner. In private life she is the wife of A. J. Cordeau, who recently resigned as manager of the local Montgomery Ward store.

Mr. Cordeau will supervise the opening of the new shop but will not be actively engaged in it after it is opened. He will work on some personal plans which coincide with the statement made by him at the time of his leaving Ward's.

The manager of the new shop will be Miss Rose Cavanaugh, who was connected with the former Rose-Gorman department store as buyer for more than 10 years and more recently with the Mayfair store in the sportswear division.

The Mayfair will be a ladies' specialty shop, handling nationally known merchandise in the better grades.

The store equipment is by Grand Rapids and will be the latest word in fixtures.

Sing Sing Warden Protests Slash

Ossining, N. Y., April 26 (AP)—Warden Lewis E. Lawes today said Sing Sing prison—the only penal institution in the state to escape the bloody riots of early depression years—could not be "safely run" if the additional Republican budget cut of $115,000 is made.

Governor Lehman had trimmed the budget request by $39,000 before the Republican economy slash was proposed and the warden today said the appropriation now proposed "will make it impossible for any man effectively, efficiently and safely to run this institution."

He challenged anyone to answer the question "how can the budget be made, 'in the chainlink, the psychiatrist or the teachers,'" and said the reduction would "set the prison back 50 years."

they will simply have been temporarily taken out of the budget and then restored through the device of including them in other bills."

Several Democrats, including former Governor Alfred E. Smith, have questioned constitutionality of the proposed "jump sum" budget on which the Republican majority leadership has set an assembly vote Friday.

Smith said the "jump sum" system was "unconstitutional 10 years ago and is still unconstitutional."

The association of state civil service employees has threatened court action if the proposed budget is enacted.

Republican leaders, reported inclined to let lawmakers themselves decide the sales tax issue, insisted action on it must be separate from the budget.

Steel Gives Its Earnings Report

Reflecting the generally lower average level of prices realized, but with labor and material costs "frozen" at the high levels of last year, U. S. Steel yesterday reported net earnings for the first three months of this year down to $660,551 as against net of $4,394,454 in the final quarter of 1938. This was despite the fact that there was a gain in shipments of 9.7 per cent. Operations for the quarter were at the rate of 51.7 per cent of capacity with 46.9 per cent in preceding three months. Although the net is small, still it compares very favorably with the first quarter of 1938 when the company had a net loss of $1,292,151. Directors declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1.75 on preferred stock although the earned income per share was but 18 cents.

Inland Steel had net the first quarter of $2,024,601, $1.28 a common share, vs. net of $923,176, 58 cents a share in first quarter of 1938. Inland's Laughlin Steel showed a net loss of $376,525 for the quarter, vs. net loss year ago of $1,269,725. Youngstown Sheet & Tube's net of $217,107, or one cent a share, compares with net loss in the 1938 quarter of $139,529. President Funnell said that at present prices the current 48 per cent capacity rate of operation is not profitable while a year ago the firm could break even at 32 per cent. Stated that cost of operating is at highest point in industry's history, with no relief in sight. President Grace of Bethlehem Steel admitted that his company's net for the first quarter was above a year ago when they earned $994,908.

Major oil companies are reporting lower net earnings for the first quarter as compared with a year ago, due to low prices and government restriction on crude oil output. Texas Corp. earned 11 to 12 cents a share compared with 56 cents year ago. Phillips Petroleum 33 cents a share against 52 cents in first quarter of 1938. Shell Union Oil had net of less than one cent a share on common vs. 18 cents earned year ago.

Profits of the industry for the second quarter are expected to improve, but to continue to show a decline from a year ago.

The market continued its desultory drift yesterday, with volume at 420,000 shares, and although industrial and rails showed small fractional advances and utilities a minor decline none of them are viewed as having much significance under present conditions. The industrials in the Dow Jones list were up 0.02 point, to 127.36; rails advanced 0.10 point, to 25.59; and utilities lost 0.09 point, to 22.15.

Wheat rose sharply yesterday on adverse crop and weather reports from Kansas and Oklahoma, closing as much as 1 1/4 cent higher in Chicago. Cotton figures closed with losses of two to 10 points. Sugar touched a new two-year high, with May No. 4 contracts at 13 1/2 cents a pound. Cocoa rallied toward the close after having edged into new lows for the season.

Report of Commonwealth & Southern for 12 months ended March 31, subject to audit and year-end adjustments, shows net income of $13,300,338, equivalent to dividends of $6 preferred stock on which the company has a cumulative of unpaid dividends, to 13 cents a share on 33,673,327 no-par shares of common stock. This compared with net equal to 14 cents in common in year ended March 31, 1938.

Net of Cities Service for the first quarter was reported to be about $1,000,000 under the 1938 quarter and Vice President Jones told stockholders that there was no assurance that preferred dividends would be resumed this year. He said that taxes now absorb almost twice the annual preferred dividend requirements and added that present trend of taxes leads to confiscation of stockholders' property.

Studebaker had net of $56,914 for the first quarter as against net loss in the 1938 quarter of $1,072,352.

Justice Rhodes Dies

Binghamton, N. Y., April 26 (AP)—Associate Justice Leon C. Rhodes, 62, of the appellate division, third department, died early today at his home of coronary thrombosis. The jurist was named to the Supreme Court in 1922. President Roosevelt, then governor, appointed Justice Rhodes to the appellate bench in 1931. His widow is the only survivor.

Budget Cut Seen Likely to Delay Proposed By-Pass

The proposed construction of the Saugerties viaduct and approaches, on this year's state highway construction program, will not be built this year if the scheduled cut of $7,725,000 is made in the state highway budget, according to word received today from the district office of the state highway department in Poughkeepsie.

The viaduct and approaches were to be built at an estimated cost of $350,000. It would eliminate the present dangerous curves in 9-W where the highway enters the village of Saugerties from the south and would by-pass the village.

The viaduct would be built so that when one approached Saugerties from Kingston instead of making the first left hand turn to drive through the village, traffic would proceed straight ahead over the viaduct which would connect with the 9-W straightaway just where a right hand turn is made in the highway to enter Saugerties from the north.

At the district office it was stated that efforts have been made for the past three years to get the construction of this viaduct on the road program, but if the cut was made in the highway budget as proposed it would be impossible to construct the viaduct this year.

Others Are Held In Poison Case

Philadelphia, April 26 (AP)—Detectives rounded up at least a dozen more men and women today in an insurance-murder poisoning investigation, and arrested three on homicide charges.

After hours of night "star chamber" sessions the investigators described how the four-state ring and its customers, poisoned numerous victims to collect insurance money under the leadership of a middle-aged man who practiced witchcraft and was known as "the rabbi." He is still free.

Indications that the poison plot may have taken at least 75 lives in the past ten years in four eastern seaboard states have come repeatedly from investigations.

One man has been convicted of first degree murder, a woman has pleaded guilty to three slayings and three other persons await trial on murder charges.

New developments in the investigation came rapidly after Mrs. Carina Favato, confessed poisoner of three men, disclosed some of the insurance-murder ring's deepest secrets.

Arrested last night and held pending a hearing were:

Mrs. Josephine Romano, 41, Assistant District Attorney Vincent P. McDevitt said confessed poisoning her husband. Mrs. Agnes Mantuik, 36, widow of a barber the state charges was poisoned fatally. Emilio Micelli, 30, accused of impersonating a poison victim to obtain insurance on the other man's life. Police detained at least ten other persons for questioning. "It will be at least a month before even the bare outlines of this case are clear," one detective said. "We haven't even begun to think of preparing the prosecution yet." The ring's operations centered in Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York. Virtually all of the known victims were pronounced dead of pneumonia. The poison used by the ring gives similar symptoms.

A spokesman for the operators, expressing alarm at what he called the "loss of 5,000,000 tons in 1938 over 1937," said the miners' union would be asked to "do something towards putting men now on relief back in gainful employment."

The operators," he said, "will ask restoration of the eight hour, five day week for 32 weeks of the year and a six day week for 20 weeks of the contract year, with rates in effect at the expiration of the contract of August 8, 1939."

Hitler Will Not Alter His Speech

was unsuccessful in his efforts yesterday to see Von Ribbentrop. It was understood that Sir Neville wished not only to assure the German government that Britain's departure from tradition of voluntary military service was not an offensive measure but that it was intended chiefly to please Britain's allies.

Whereas newspapers in general characterized the British description plan as a means of "applying pressure" to the German foreign office, Reichsleiter Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, printed an editorial on it, captioned "Provocation."

Answers from 14 States

It was learned on good authority the German foreign office had received answers from 14 states to questions put to them by the German government as to whether they felt themselves threatened by Germany, whether they had urged President Roosevelt to send his nonaggression appeal and whether they had advance knowledge of the messages to Rome and Berlin.

Whether all of the 14 answers were favorable to Germany could not be ascertained. It was indicated, however, that the replies would become, in part, the basis of Hitler's 75-minute address to the Reichstag and the German nation.

The speech in answer to President Roosevelt which Hitler wants to reach as many American newspaper readers as possible will be shorter than usual.

Instructions to all Germany's workers and school children to listen to the Reichstag proceedings from noon until 1:30 p. m. (6 a. m. to 7:30 a. m. E. S. T.) Friday indicated he may speak but an hour and a quarter. His speeches often last two hours.

The chancellery has two women typists, who rate among the world's best, at least as far as writing in German is concerned.

He dictates directly to the typists. He walks up and down, acts as if facing a big crowd, and so effectively conjures an audience before his mind's eye that he once said he could force exactly how his listeners would react.

Racing along at terrific pace as ideas storm in upon him, he gives the typists a merry time of it.

Once he has started dictating—usually after midnight—he is not likely to cease until the speech is finished. That may mean that the typists go home after daylight.

There is little revision of the manuscript, and changes often consist of important afterthoughts.

Because of possible last minute changes no speech is released until after it is delivered.

YMCA Drive Total Now Is $2,365.35

The Y. M. C. A. financial drive to raise $12,120, received further impetus when the campaign workers Tuesday evening reported 125 subscribers $1,007, bringing the total for the first two days of the campaign to 336 subscribers $2,365.35.

It was a rousing dinner meeting at the "Y" last night, and Alderman Paul Zucca though somewhat handicapped by the absence of a piano player—Danny Bittner was unable to be present—proved that to a man of real ability it is possible to lead community singing even without piano accompaniment, and the diners after they had received the encouraging reports sang "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and other favorites with a will.

This evening at 6:14 o'clock another dinner meeting will be held and Fred L. Van Deusen, local magician and one of the campaign workers, is expected to display some magic feats, and more encouraging reports from the workers are expected.

Tuesday's Report

The report by divisions made last night follows:

Div.	Subsc'rs	Subsc't'ns
Div. 1	52	$325.50
Div. 2	21	99.00
Div. 3	18	119.00
Div. 4	27	63.50
Initial Gifts	7	400.00
Total	125	$1,007.00

There is friendly rivalry between the various divisions with each division striving to bring in the most subscriptions.

General Secretary Robert L. Sisson informed the workers that he was pleased with the efforts that were being made and saw no reason why the present campaign should not go over the top.

General Chairman Clarence Dumm, president of the board of directors of the "Y," who is presiding at the dinner meetings, agreed with Mr. Sisson.

To change the proceedings somewhat Secretary Sisson had arranged for the showing of movies at the meeting. The movies were those taken of activities in the local "Y" mostly in the boys' department and in the big swimming pool, designated as one of the most popular spots in the institution. The movies had been taken by E. T. Bookwalter, boys' work secretary, and gave a vivid idea of what the "Y" is accomplishing with the boys of the city.

It was also stated by Mr. Sisson that movies showing "Y" activities were being shown this week in the Read's Kingston Theatre, the Broadway Theatre and the Orpheum Theatre.

Before the meeting dispersed last night several other old favorites were sung. Alderman Zucca was unable to stay for the close of the meeting and W. W. Brady of the telephone company substituted for him as song leader.

Judging from the enthusiasm displayed at these dinner meetings the campaign this year will prove a success. The slogan is "A better Y. M. C. A.; a better Kingston."

Gardens for Relief Folk Will Be Sponsored Again

Municipal and home gardens for relief clients will again be sponsored this summer by the department of public welfare, and all clients who desire to have a garden this year are requested to register within the next day or so at the commissary, adjoining the city hall.

It is necessary to register in order that the department will know just the amount of seed and plants it will be necessary to order, and just how much ground will be needed for the municipal gardens.

These gardens have proven a success in other years and clients have raised considerable amounts of green stuff which they were able to preserve for winter's use.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

Highland Unit

Highland, April 26.—Following the suggestion of the special committee of Miss Ruth Goldsmith, Mrs. William Barnaby and Mrs. James R. Swift, after consultation with Principal A. Herbert Campbell, of the high school, and approval at the executive meeting Friday afternoon, the local Parent-Teacher Association Monday evening voted to purchase a pupil desk for the stage in the auditorium in the new high school as a gift from the P-T. A. It was decided also to enter a float in the local Apple Blossom Festival, with Miss Edna Curry as chairman.

Mrs. Francis Gaffney, Jr. presided with Miss Ruth Goldsmith acting as secretary in place of Miss June Reynolds. Miss Martha Benesh reported a balance of $43.32 in the treasury after paying the dollar subscription for the Parent-Teacher magazine for the public library.

Mrs. A. H. Campbell, chairman of the finance committee, asked that everyone send an article of home baking or canning or other article for a variety sale to be held in the auditorium at the meeting on May 8. Mrs. Barnaby suggested that the association present a book to the public library.

Mrs. Gaffney appointed Mrs. Allan Babcock and Mrs. Louis Gruner on the auditing committee and Miss Eliza Raymond, Miss Edna Curry and Mrs. William Russell as nominating committee, to present the names at the next meeting.

Miss Finette Norton, girl scout director, told of the advantages of the girl scout organization from the brownies at seven years of age through to those of 18 years.

Mrs. Marian K. Richards, chairman of the evening, and public health nurse in the town of Lloyd, gave a talk and introduced Dr. Carl F. Meekins, health officer for the town. Dr. Meekins referred to April being Child Health Month and the subject assigned for the evening was Health as a Cornerstone.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. S. A. MacCormac, Mrs. Howard Thompson, the Misses Lois Welker, Kathleen Kenney, Mrs. Charles Schmidt. Next month Mrs. Susan K. Ploss is chairman of refreshments.

The meeting on May 8 will be in charge of Miss June Reynolds, with the subject, Music as a Common Bond.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Soda. The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach often pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or your stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over. Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes these little black tablets called Ball-and for indigestion to make the excess stomach acid harmless, relieves distress in no time and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and you see the package proves it. Ask for Ball-and for indigestion.

Stahlman Says Publishers Must Give Cooperation

New York, April 26 (AP)—President James G. Stahlman of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today that the capacity of the press to resist "criticism, misjudgment and assault" lay in the "measure of confidence and respect which we may deserve and receive from the public and in our financial ability to provide the services required of us."

In an address before the association's annual convention, Stahlman, who is publisher of the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, added the press must "at all times strive to render the highest type of public service."

At the same time he said, publishers must "work together unceasingly to increase the efficiency of our operations and to endeavor to win for the daily newspaper a share of advertising appropriations commensurate with its capacity to serve, to stimulate and to foster the legitimate activities of American business."

The time had come, he declared, when "the newspapers of this country must bring their full influence and their enthusiasm to the task of regaining the way in advertising revenues lost through failure to adequately meet the changing currents of abnormal times which less favorably endowed competing media have so successfully turned to their advantage."

"The daily newspaper," he went on, "occupies a unique place in the social, political and economic life of the nation. To discharge its duties and serve the public satisfactorily, it must be free and financially independent. Its freedom, which is not primarily the privilege of the publisher but the prerogative of the reader, must be safeguarded at continual cost and sacrifice against predatory interests, political and private, by whom it has been assailed from the time the printing press was invented down to the present day."

"If there is one thing that is badly needed it is a public relations campaign on the part of the newspapers of this country. We do more to promote the other fellow's business and less to promote our own than any crowd I know."

"We must not only promote the newspaper as a medium for the advertiser, but we must continue to sell it to the people as an agency of free expression and as their valued public servant. We must present a united front to the blatherers and demagogues. The press not only must assert its freedom, it must constantly defend it."

Store for Women to Open Soon as Specialty Shop

The Mayfair, which promises to be one of Kingston's finest shops, will open early in May at 280 Fair street, with Louise Cobb as the trade name owner. In private life she is the wife of A. J. Cordeau, who recently resigned as manager of the local Montgomery Ward store.

Mr. Cordeau will supervise the opening of the new shop but will not be actively engaged in it after it is opened. He will work on some personal plans which coincide with the statement made by him at the time of his leaving Ward's.

The manager of the new shop will be Miss Rose Cavanaugh, who was connected with the former Rose-Gorman department store as buyer for more than 10 years and more recently with the Ward store in the sportswear division.

The Mayfair will be a ladies' specialty shop, handling nationally known merchandise in the better grades.

Sing Sing Warden Protests Slash

Ossining, N. Y., April 26 (AP)—Warden Lewis E. Lawes today said Sing Sing prison—the only penal institution in the state to escape the bloody riots of early depression years—could not be "safely run" if the additional Republican budget cut of $115,000 is made.

Governor Lehman had trimmed the budget request by $39,000 before the Republican economy slash was proposed and the warden today said the appropriation now proposed "will make it impossible for any man effectively, efficiently and safely to run this institution."

He challenged anyone to answer the question where the saving shall be made, "in the chaplains, the psychiatrists or the teachers," and said the reduction would "set the prison back 30 years."

Governor Protests Budget Reduction

Several Democrats, including former Governor Alfred E. Smith, have questioned constitutionality of the proposed "lump sum" budget on which the Republican majority leadership has set an assembly vote Friday.

Smith said the "lump sum" system was "unconstitutional 10 years ago and is still unconstitutional."

The association of state civil service employees has threatened court action if the proposed budget is enacted.

Republican leaders, reported inclined to let lawmakers themselves decide the sales tax issue, insisted action on it must be separate from the budget.

Steel Gives Its Earnings Report

Reflecting the generally lower average level of prices realized, but with labor and material costs "frozen" at the high levels of last year, U. S. Steel yesterday reported net earnings for the first three months of this year down to $660,551 as against net of $4,394,454 in the final quarter of 1938. This was despite the fact that there was a gain in shipments of 97 per cent. Operations for the quarter were at the rate of 51.7 per cent of capacity with 46.9 per cent in preceding three months. Although the net is small, still it compares very favorably with the first quarter of 1938 when the company had a net loss of $1,292,151. Directors declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1.75 on preferred stock although the earned income per share was but 18 cents.

Inland Steel had net the first quarter of $2,024,601, $1.28 a common share, vs. net of $923,076, 58 cents a share in first quarter of 1938. Inland's first quarter Steel showed a net loss of $376,525 for the quarter, vs. net loss year ago of $1,269,725. Youngstown Sheet & Tube's net of $217,107, or one cent a share, compares with net loss in the 1938 quarter of $139,529; President Purnell said that at present prices the current 48 per cent capacity rate of operation is not profitable while a year ago the firm could break even at 32 per cent. Stated that cost of operating is at a high point in industry's history, with no relief in sight. President Grace of Bethlehem Steel admitted that his company's net for the first quarter was above a year ago when they earned $994,908.

Major oil companies are reporting lower net earnings for the first quarter as compared with a year ago, due to low prices and government restriction on crude oil output. Texas Corp. earned 12 cents a share compared with 56 cents year ago. Phillips Petroleum 33 cents a share against 52 cents in first quarter of 1938. Shell Union Oil had net of less than one cent a share on common vs. 18 cents earned year ago. Profits of the industry for the second quarter are expected to improve, but to continue to show a decline from a year ago.

The market continued its dovish drift yesterday, with volume at 420,000 shares and although industrial and rail shares showed small fractional advances and utilities a minor decline none of them are viewed as having much significance under present conditions. The industrials in the Dow-Jones list were up 0.02 point, to 127.35; rails advanced 0.10 point, to 25.59 and utilities lost 0.09 point, to 22.15.

Wheat rose sharply yesterday on adverse crop and weather reports from Kansas and Oklahoma, closing as much as 1 1/4 cent higher in Chicago. Cotton figures closed with losses of two to 10 points. Sugar touched a new two-year high, with May No. 4 contracts at 1.58 1/2 cents a pound. Cocoa rallied toward the close after having edged into new lows for the season.

Report of Commonwealth & Southern for 12 months ended March 31, subject to audit and year-end adjustments, shows net income of $13,300,338, equivalent after dividends of $6 preferred stock, on which there is an accumulation of unpaid dividends, to 13 cents a share on 53,673,327 no-par shares of common stock. This compared with net equal to 14 cents in common in year ended March 31, 1938.

Net of Cities Service for the first quarter was reported to be about $1,000,000 under the 1938 quarter and Vice President Jones told stockholders that there was no assurance that preferred dividends would be resumed this year. He said that taxes now absorb almost twice the annual preferred dividend requirements and added that present trend of taxes leads to confiscation of stockholders' property.

Studebaker had net of $56,914 for the first quarter against net loss in the 1938 quarter of $1,072,332.

Justice Rhodes Dies

Binghamton, N. Y., April 26 (AP)—Associate Justice Leon C. Rhodes, 62, of the appellate division, third department, died early today at his home of coronary thrombosis. The jurist was named to the Supreme Court in 1922. President Roosevelt then governor, appointed Justice Rhodes to the appellate bench in 1931. His widow is the only survivor.

Drew Perfect Hand

Lewes, Del., April 26 (AP)—Mrs. Curtis W. Atkins drew a perfect bridge hand last night, but failed to make the most of it. She held 10 spades with 150 high cards and made a grand slam in spades, then realized too late she could have earned more points with the same bid in no-trump.

New York, April 26 (AP)—A rise in copper shares and a wide jump in Eastman Kodak gave the stock market an upward slant today after an early decline.

Prices stiffened around but market losses still were mixed with the gains near the final hour.

Trading, while more active on the upside, continued small on the whole as speculators awaited the Hitler speech Friday. Transactions ran at the rate of about 500,000 shares for the full session.

Down fractionally to more than a point at one time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, American Can, Westinghouse, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, General Motors and Santa Fe.

In the curb, Aluminum of America was off 3 at one time. Off a shade most of the time were American Gas & Electric, Gulf Oil and Lockhead, Niagara Hudson and Pittsburgh Plate Glass edged higher.

Budget Cut Seen Likely to Delay Proposed By-Pass

The proposed construction of the Saugerties viaduct and approaches, on this year's state highway construction program, will not be built this year if the scheduled cut of $7,725,000 is made in the state highway budget, according to word received today from the district office of the state highway department in Poughkeepsie.

The viaduct and approaches were to be built at an estimated cost of $350,000. It would eliminate the present dangerous curves in 9-W where the highway enters the village of Saugerties from the south and would by-pass the village.

The viaduct would be built so that when one approached Saugerties from Kingston instead of making the first left hand turn to drive through the village, traffic would proceed straight ahead over the viaduct which would connect with the 9-W straightaway just where a right hand turn is made in the highway to enter Saugerties from the north.

At the district office it was stated that efforts have been made for the past three years to get the construction of this viaduct on the road program, but if the cut was made in the highway budget as proposed it would be impossible to construct the viaduct this year.

Others Are Held In Poison Case

Philadelphia, April 26 (AP)—Detectives rounded up at least a dozen more men and women today in an insurance-murder poison ring investigation, and arrested three on homicide charges.

After hours of night "star chamber" sessions, the investigators described how the four-starling and its "customers" poisoned numerous victims to collect insurance money under the leadership of a middle-aged man who practiced witchcraft and was known as "the rabbi." He is still free.

Indications that the poison plot may have taken at least 75 lives in the past ten years in four eastern seaboard states have come repeatedly from investigations.

One man has been convicted of first degree murder, a woman has pleaded guilty to three slayings and three other persons await trial on murder charges.

New developments in the investigation came rapidly after Mrs. Carina Favato, confessed poisoner of three men, disclosed some of the insurance-murder ring's deepest secrets.

Arrested last night and held pending a hearing were: Mrs. Josephine Romano, 41, Assistant District Attorney Vincent P. McDevitt said confessed poisoning her husband.

Mrs. Agnes Mantlik, 36, widow of a barber the state charges was poisoned fatally.

Emilio Micelli, 30, accused of impersonating a poison victim to obtain insurance on the other man's life.

Police detained at least ten other persons for questioning.

"It will be at least a month before even the bare outlines of this case are clear," one detective said.

"We haven't even begun to think of preparing the prosecution yet."

The ring's operations centered in Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York.

Virtually all of the known victims were pronounced dead of pneumonia. The poison used by the ring gives similar symptoms.

Anthracite Group Prepares Petition

New York, April 26 (AP)—Anthracite operators today were prepared to advance a 16-point proposal asking the United Mine Workers (U. M. W.) to "squarely face the facts" in their negotiations for a new working contract.

The operators, it was learned on excellent authority, will present the 16 demands as a counter proposal to the 18-point program already submitted by the miners. The present contract expires Sunday night.

A spokesman for the operators, expressing alarm at what he called the "loss of 5,000,000 tons in 1938 over 1937," said the miners' union would be asked to "do something towards putting men now on relief back in gainful employment."

The operators, he said, "will ask restoration of the eight hour, five day week for 32 weeks of the year and a six day week for 20 weeks of the contract year with rates 20 per cent less than the rates in effect at the expiration of the contract of August 8, 1930."

QUIET CITY

New York and other cities trying to get rid of unnecessary noise should study Guatemala City. A recent visitor there reports that the people are amazingly calm and courteous, to each other as well as to visitors.

"They even work quietly," she adds. "In the heart of the city an enormous palace is being constructed for President Ubico, but you would never know it if you listened for riveting and hammering sounds. They must be weaving it together!"

This peaceful quality is found in traffic, too. There is "no wild honking of horns and crazy driving." Drivers all seem to obey traffic regulations as a matter of course. There isn't even any speeding on highways outside of the city. As you drive from the city a policeman notes the license number of your car and telephones it ahead to the next station along the road. Then, if you get there sooner than you should, you pay a fine no matter how slowly you are going when you arrive. It's an unbeatable system, says the traveler, for even taxi drivers watch the time as well as the speed. If they forget briefly and step on the accelerator they promptly drop back to a speed slow enough to make up the right average.

That would hardly do on our own fine inter-city highways, unless the permitted speed was reasonably high. Yet it's interesting to know of a land where the gas engine and leisure and quiet exist simultaneously and harmoniously.

LITTLE REFUGEES

Helen Hayes, urging Congress to admit 20,000 German refugee children during the next two years in addition to regular immigrant quotas, spoke not as actress but mother.

"I beg of you to let them come in," she pleaded. "The real feeling of every American is that there is always room for one more. When I read that England and Holland had opened their doors to them, I prayed that we would do the same. I just can't believe that this country of mine and yours has no room for them. It just isn't like us. These are children, little children, who now turn to us with outstretched hands."

She will take one herself, she says, "sight unseen."

By a striking coincidence, at the same time that this plea was being made, Adolf Hitler, whose policies are responsible for this pitiful refugee problem, was shown in newspapers and films in a kindly, fatherly pose, surrounded by children and holding them by the hand.

Never mind that. Cruelty and sentimentality often go together. People who are kindly with both their hearts and their heads will do their best to ease the hard lot of those little refugees.

THAT ALMIGHTY "AXIS"

"The West has played one card in the Balkans, and the Axis is about to play the next," remarked a diplomat the other day. Everywhere you turn in these days, you hear solemn talk of that "Axis." The dictators speak of it as if it were some impersonal and superhuman force, capable of working its will like Fate or God.

And what is that wonderful Axis? It is merely a partnership of two ruthless and ambitious men, who have joined in an unnatural monopoly of the human and natural resources of their own countries to dominate Europe, perhaps, the world, for their own glory.

The Axis is not superhuman. It is human. It is Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini pretending to be Germany and Italy and trying to hijack modern civilization.

It would help to preserve our sanity about such matters if we avoided the superstition and metaphysics and simply referred to these earth-shakers as Adolf and Benito.

DOLLARS AND MEN

William Allen White, the famous Kansas editor, who rises up and throws a liberal monkeywrench into the machinery about every so often, has gone and done it again. Speaking at Washington as president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors the other day, he advised his fellow-editors to keep their "excess steam heat" for Stalin, Mussolini and Hitler and "not emote too heavily" about political issues here at home.

He was not referring to old-line political controversy, Mr. White added, but to fundamental new questions involving property rights.

These property rights, he admitted, are being narrowed. And this process, he declared, would continue "as new inventions produce new moralities and require new checks to establish a fair balance in the relation between the dollar and the man."

Dollars and men do seem to get out of balance from time to time, and there is usually a bitter struggle before a new balance is established. Mr. White's idea is to be open-minded about it and ease the transition period.

Efficiency is a way of doing things so quickly that you can spend the rest of your time wishing you had something to do.

The chief value of peace proposals, at present, is to keep people believing that there is such a thing as peace.

Most of the statesmen who think they're running for president aren't even crawling.

DIARRHOEA—HARMFUL OR HARMLESS

You read much about constipation because between 40 to 60 per cent of adults are constipated to some extent. Physicians in charge of outdoor and indoor hospital clinics state that perhaps as high as 70 per cent of their patients give a history of constipation.

There is a large number of individuals who suffer with diarrhoea and if it is not too severe they are content because they feel that they would sooner have diarrhoea than be constipated. Diarrhoea is frequent during the warm weather.

What causes diarrhoea? Diarrhoea results from disorders of the small intestine and may be organic or functional (not organic). It may also result from disorders of the large intestine and from disorders of other organs—liver, stomach, nerves.

As diarrhoea may be due to simple or innocent causes, or to serious or organic changes, the cause should be sought, to allay or ease the mind or to prevent serious consequences.

The difference between the functional (innocent or non-organic) diarrhoea and the organic diarrhoea due to changes in the lining of the small intestine caused by dangerous organisms or growths, is outlined by Dr. Harry Gauss in his book "Clinical Dietetics."

Functional diarrhoea: 1. The onset is sudden. 2. The direct cause is immediate or known (a) the recent eating of unripe fruit or vegetables, (b) the recent eating of contaminated foods, (c) emotional stress or upset, (d) sudden changes in the weather. 3. Diarrhoea is the principal symptom and lasts but a short time. 4. Cramps may be present and very little, if any, pain at any one spot in the abdomen. 5. There is no blood or pus in the stools. 6. There is little or no loss of weight, fever, or anorexia, although a feeling of weakness may be present. 7. The X-ray examination shows an increased amount of movement, but no trouble at any one spot.

Organic diarrhoea: 1. The diarrhoea comes on slowly and is almost unnoticed. 2. The direct cause is unknown as the trouble which started the diarrhoea may have occurred days, weeks, or months before. (a) the food or beverage which was consumed was tainted with harmful organisms or parasites had been eaten, (b) diarrhoea due to poisons is gradual. 3. Diarrhoea is principal symptom, lasts a long time, blood and pus are commonly found, pain and cramps mostly in one spot, X-ray may show trouble present; there may be fever, loss of weight, and anaemia. 4. The harmful organisms or parasites may be found in the stools.

NLRB Decision in Favor of Employees Likened to Postponement of Election in 1940, if Democrats Chose

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 26—Supposing congress, dominated as it is by a Democratic majority, passed a law delegating to a commission three Democrats appointed by the President the power to decide that, if circumstances are not favorable to the Democrats in 1940, the national election might be postponed until such time as the commission of three members desired, would the American people say congress had a constitutional right to delegate such discretionary power to anybody?

Yet at the current hearings before the Senate committee on Labor, it appears that the National Labor Relations Board has received from congress power to postpone an election among employees whenever in the judgment of the board it thinks the atmosphere of the community in which the election is to be held is not to the liking of the board.

Out in Westwood, California, the employees of a lumber company are conceding in favor of the A. F. of L., and representatives of the National Labor Relations Board admit it is likely to be the outcome of the election, but they decline to hold the election. The law says the labor board "may" order an election. It does not use the word "shall," and congress is now being asked to amend a law which it wrote carelessly, a law which gives the board the widest latitude and which it is interpreting according to its judgment and not by any legislative standards laid down by congress.

The facts are recited by Charles J. Janigan, legal adviser to the California State Federation of Labor, who says, in a formal communication concerning the delay of several months with respect to the holding of an election among the employees:

Toward the end of January of this year when I gave an appeal to one of the attorneys for the board that he do something to speed up the election, I was astounded to hear him say that I might as well know the truth, and that there would be no election until the company had fulfilled its promise of building the C.I.O. an office, and for sufficient time to elapse to permit the C.I.O. to become established in Westwood. It was plain to see from this statement of the board attorney, and the dilatory tactics of the board, that they had no intention of holding an election.

Chairman Madden, in commenting on this situation before the Senate committee, spoke of the feeling in the community of Westwood against the C.I.O. and he declared the board took this into consideration in postponing the election. Here is an extract from the committee hearing:

"Senator Holt of West Virginia: You made a statement that you sometimes hold elections off until the community cooled off."

"Chairman Madden: Yes.

"Senator Holt: Are all of those cooling off processes a question of community pressure against a particular union or not?"

"Chairman Madden: Nearly always they are."

"Senator Holt: Have you any instance where you have withheld election until the community cooled off—and on a campaign of organizing?"

"Mr. Madden: No, not at all."

"Senator Holt: In order that I might have the facts clear, can you recall any particular elections that were withheld until the community cooled off?"

"Mr. Madden: Yes, there is one which is just now being withheld for that purpose, the case of the Red River Lumber Company in Westwood, California."

"Senator Holt: Because the community has an anti-union attitude, is that correct?"

"Mr. Madden: I only know what reports we get from our agents out there about recent events, but my understanding from the reports is that the company's conduct in recent months has been proper, but the community and the one faction of labor have not made it possible yet to hold what we regard as a fair election."

Other testimony showed that the "one faction of labor" is the A. F. of L., and that the community and the dominant labor group—the one which has a substantial majority of the employees are opposed to the C.I.O., but the labor board considers itself well within the rights given it by Congress when it postpones the election until such time as in the judgment of the board there can be "a fair election."

Labor leaders have often compared collective bargaining and economic democracy to political democracy and congressional or presidential elections, but it is apparent that a governmental board created by act of congress has the power to deny an expression of the will of the majority and has the authority to permit indefinite electioneering until such time as the governmental board thinks conditions or membership or public sentiment equalizes the relative disadvantages of one side or the other as the case may be.

When congress delegates power so broadly, the board, like any other government tribunal, may exercise such power. In this instance, the board members feel sincerely that they should postpone an election, but it is a question whether congress realized it was delegating such a discretionary authority to the labor board when the law was first passed. If one rereads today the opinion of Chief Justice Hughes and the other eight justices, including the late Justice Cardozo, about "deliberation riot" in the NRA case, it would seem as if congress now faces full responsibility for another unconstitutional delegation of power.

Replica of Fair Exhibited Here

The famous scale model of the World's Fair in New York city is now on exhibition in the lobby of the Governor Clinton Hotel, it was announced this morning. It is an exact replica to scale of the New York World's Fair grounds which are over three miles in length and a mile and a half in width, containing 1,216½ acres. The model shows the location of all the buildings, Constitution mall, the lagoons, amphitheatres, parking spaces and in fact the entire layout of the fair grounds. The model itself is about seven feet long by three and a half feet wide and weighs over 400 pounds. It required over four months to construct and has been on exhibit in the World's Fair headquarters in the Empire State Building in New York city. It affords an excellent opportunity to "preview" the fair and for this reason attracts much attention.

Touch of Summer Fades to Spring

Summer took a bow Tuesday in Kingston, but retired today in favor of spring, who returned with the usual April showers. The official city thermometer recorded a high of 83 degrees at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. This morning at 10 o'clock a recording of 52 degrees was reported. Yesterday, however, was not the warmest April day of record, for the records at the city hall show that April 28 of last year a high of 91 degrees was recorded, and on April 20 in 1937, a high of 84 degrees was reported. March 23, last year a high of 83 degrees was recorded.

Group Is Given Sublime Degree

In one of the most largely attended communications of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., held in some time, a class of five candidates was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason Tuesday night. Those raised were Richard Morton Kalish, Agnew Nicholas Van Gelder, Richard Daniel Lane, Henry Chase Page and Harry R. LeFevre, Jr.

Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., master of the lodge, presided at the session and heading the outstanding work of the degree team was Roger H. Loughran, past master and past district deputy. The visitors register showed the presence of 100 or more members of other lodges, including numerous masters and past masters. One notable guest was Walter S. Gedney, past grand representative of the Grand Lodge of Virginia, now of Nyack, who was accorded the grand honors.

Among lodges represented by delegations were Harmony Lodge of Newton, N. J., Connetquot Lodge of Saville, Margaretville Lodge, Ulster Lodge of Saugerties, Wallkill Lodge, Mountain Lodge of Windham, Wawarsing Lodge of Ellenville, Rondout Lodge and others.

At the close of the session there was a service of strawberries and ice cream.

Washington Anniversary
W. M. Scudder announced during the lodge session that the grand master has asked members of all Masonic lodges to make a special point of church attendance next Sunday, in observance of the 150th anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as president of the United States.

Edward J. Hillis, past master of Rondout Lodge, invited the members of No. 10 to meet with Rondout Lodge and attend service at St. James Church Sunday night. They will gather in the Sunday School room of the church at 7:15 o'clock and attend the service in a body.

Expert Explains Identity of Fish

Many trout are taken each year from the Ashokan Reservoir and lower waters of the Esopus creek of which the species is in doubt by the person making the catch. The following letter received from Dr. John R. Greeley, ichthyologist of the conservation department, may help in establishing the identity of such fish:

Nelson W. Snyder, president, Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Snyder:
The very beautiful trout which reached me via Mr. Kingsbury has been checked for identification, and I have turned it over to Commissioner Osborne with your compliments. Thanks very much for the fish and information.

This fish is a brown trout (Salmo fario) in the silvery coloration which occurs in large lakes or in sea-run fish.

It is well known that rainbow trout, under certain conditions, become "steelhead" but it is not so well recognized among sportsmen that the brown trout has a similar form. In England the various variations of brown trout are sometimes designated as "river trout," "Loch Leven trout" and "sea trout." They are all the same species. There may, however, be "races" among them that vary considerably. It is recorded that when the ordinary river brown trout were stocked in New Zealand a portion of the resulting population became "sea trout." Our own situation in the Ashokan and some other lakes would tend to support the view that ordinary brown trout can, in at least a portion of the population, become silvery. When silvery they are exactly like Loch Leven trout, which is a lake population, and do not show any red spots.

There are various structural characters of scale counts, etc., but the best rough check is to look at the adipose fin. It shows some reddish color and is very large in a brown trout, also the fins are usually quite yellowish. The lack of red spots and the X-shaped or irregular black spots made the sides of the fish look just the same in brown trout, salmon or steelhead (rainbow) so they are very confusing.

From the Esopus and Ashokan I have seen four different colorations of trout, i. e., rainbow-colored rainbows, silvery rainbows (steelhead), usual color of brown trout and silvery brown trout coloration (of which your fish is a good example). Well, whatever difficulties you may have in identifying these fish, I hope that you will have your share of luck with them.

Sincerely yours,
J. R. GREELEY,
Ichthyologist.

YMCA Drive Total
Now Is $2,365.35*Parent-Teacher Ass'n*Highland Unit

The Y. M. C. A. financial drive to raise $12,120, received further impetus when the campaign workers Tuesday evening reported 125 subscribers $1,007, bringing the total for the first two days of the campaign to 336 subscribers $2,365.35.

It was a rousing dinner meeting at the "Y" last night, and Alderman Paul Zucca though somewhat handicapped by the absence of a piano player—Danny Bittner was unable to be present—proved that to a man of real ability it is possible to lead community singing even without piano accompaniment, and the diners after they had received the encouraging reports sang "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and other favorites with a will.

This evening at 6:14 o'clock another dinner meeting will be held and Fred L. Van Deusen, local magician and one of the campaign workers, is expected to display some magic feats, and more encouraging reports from the workers are expected.

Tuesday's Report

The report by divisions made last night follows:

Subscr's	Subscr'tns
Div. 1.....52	$325.50
Div. 2.....21	99.00
Div. 3.....18	119.00
Div. 4.....27	63.50
Initial Gifts 7	400.00
Total.....125	$1,007.00

There is friendly rivalry between the various divisions with each division striving to bring in the most subscribers.

General Secretary Robert L. Sisson informed the workers that he was pleased with the efforts that were being made and saw no reason why the present campaign should not go over the top.

General Chairman Clarence Dumm, president of the board of directors of the "Y" who is presiding at the dinner meetings, agreed with Mr. Sisson.

To change the proceedings somewhat Secretary Sisson had arranged for the showing of movies at the meeting. The movies were those taken of activities in the local "Y" mostly in the boys' department and in the big swimming pool, designated as one of the most popular spots in the institution. The movies had been taken by E. T. Bookwalter, boys' work secretary, and gave a vivid idea of what the "Y" is accomplishing with the boys of the city.

It was also stated by Mr. Sisson that movies showing "Y" activities were being shown this week in the Read's Kingston Theatre, the Broadway Theatre and the Orpheum Theatre.

Before the meeting dispersed last night several other old favorites were sung. Alderman Zucca was unable to stay for the close of the meeting and W. W. Brady of the telephone company substituted for him as song leader.

Judging from the enthusiasm displayed at these dinner meetings the campaign this year will prove a success. The slogan is "A better Y. M. C. A.; a better Kingston."

Gardens for Relief Folk
Will Be Sponsored Again

Municipal and home gardens for relief clients will again be sponsored this summer by the department of public welfare, and all clients who desire to have a garden this year are requested to register within the next day or so at the commissary, adjoining the city hall.

It is necessary to register in order that the department will know just the amount of seed and plants it will be necessary to order, and just how much ground will be needed for the municipal gardens.

These gardens have proven a success in other years and clients have raised considerable amounts of green stuff which they were able to preserve for winter's use.

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters

Asey Mayo, Cape Cod sleuth.
Kay Thayer, girl reporter.

Yesterday: The criminal eludes Asey, but he discovers Lane's car was used. Meanwhile, Brinley picks up one of the dummies he found in the road.

Chapter 45

More About Dummies

"NOW, Lane," Asey said, "which was the dummy that you said had dropped, the one that toppled over all the time?"

"That one," Lane said, "with the scarf around his neck. The one you just brought in from the lawn. That was the one that dropped, but I fixed it."

"An' this one from Brinley's car, with the stock an' fancy vest?"

"That's the one that's just acquired dropsy," Lane said, "just today. I was going to fix it tomorrow. What in the name—what are you doing?"

Asey set to work disrobing the dummy he had just brought in from the lawn.

"But it's the other one," Kay said. "It's the other one he took. Asey! You're working on the one that was here, the one he didn't take, the—"

"I know it."

But he continued to rummage around in the pockets and the lining of the tail coat belonging to the figure he had just taken from the lawn.

"There!" he said triumphantly at last. "There! Catch, Lane. Catch 'em an' hold onto 'em. There's your clues."

Lane and Hamilton stared blankly at the two shells Asey had brought out of the lining of the figure's coat.

Hamilton turned to Kay. "See what I mean?" he asked. "I knew he was after something."

"Asey," Lane said, "how did you guess that?"

"On Monday night," Asey said, "I went to the fire at Slade's shack. N'en I cut across lots to this place. Then dummies scared me to the point of drawin' my gun. But got this, Lane, I saw only three figures. Two women, an' a man. Next day I said somethin' about it, an' you told me that one man kept fallin' down. So I thought of course that the fourth figure'd been on the ground when I first saw 'em. But it's been botherin' me all this time, just the same. Because I was certain of there bein' three then, an' only three later when Zeb an' I drove up. An' I couldn't remember one on the ground either time."

"But there really are four figures," Kay said. "Two men and two women, what do you mean, only three—?" Lane's look silenced her.

"Put it this way," Asey said. "When I came here first on Monday night, there was three figures standin' outside, but the fourth wasn't on the ground. It was in the woods. An' somebody was busy peelin' off his coat an' things, an' puttin' on the dummy's clothes. Then—the land slopes there, remember. Then he rolls down easy an' cautious, dressed in the dummy's clothes, with his shotgun. After a while he gets to his feet. To any car goin' by, or anyone passin', he's just a dummy. An' he can wait there for his chance to shoot Mary. An' he's also, Lane, in the proper place to fire accordin' to your line."

Lane nodded slowly. "I begin to—"

"That's why I placed him over by the garden, where the figures wouldn't have been in his way. I never thought about—go on."

"The fireworks begin," Asey continued. "Mary Randall leans across the window to get a cigarette box. Fellow shoots twice at her head outlined on the shade, all under the cover of the fireworks noise. He don't have to run. Because if anyone hears, or catches on, he's the dummy on the ground again. But no one comes. Jane's listening to the concert on the short wave, with static galore, an' the fireworks is boom! He waits till he feels he's safe, an' then cuts back to the woods to put on his own clothes. An' then, I'd say, to his great annoyance an' alarm, Zeb an' I come back durin' the process."

"But the shells," Lane said. "How do you account for—?"

"In The Pocket!"

"WAIT. He's stuck 'em in his pocket—he must have re-loaded, an' he knew better than to leave the shells. So he sticks 'em in his—that is to say the figure's—pocket. Then Zeb an' I come. We rattle him. He changes in a hurry, puts the dummy's clothes back on it, an'—"

"But now wait," Lane said. "There were four dummies there when I came with the doctor. I know that. The fourth was on the ground then."

"Sure it was. Zeb an' I go in, see? Fellow gets on his things, dresses the dummy, puts the hat on—it's held on with safety pins, see? Anyway, after dressin' up the dummy, he rolls it down the slope an' goes. The dummy lands back where it should. An' I'm willing to wager that about halfway home, the fellow remembers the shells in that pocket."

"Then why didn't he come right back?" Hamilton asked.

"Maybe he did. But Lane's here, and the doctor, and Weston, and Zeb and Jane and I. An' mind you Zeb that time on, there's not a minute someone hasn't been around this house. He hasn't any chance to get to the dummy. See, he's got to take the coat off, an' hunt around in the lining, because there's a hole in the pocket. It's easier for him to plant shells, an' he does it, prob'ly while Prettyman is here. It's a lot better to give us fake shells that'll lead us to Jane an' her gun she gave Slade, than to get caught findin' the real shells, or have anyone catch on where they are."

"All he really needed to do," Lane said, "was to pose as a tourist. The tourists nearly picked those figures apart the last two days."

"Prob'ly would have, if he could have posed as one. But someone's on guard here all the time. Any one tryin' to find anythin' is suspect. If he could be sure of gettin' the shells right off, that'd have been fine. But I had to grope for 'em. That's a stiff interlinin'. He knew he might have to grope, an' that'd have given him away."

"What was he after the night I met up with him?" Kay asked.

"Got to guess at that," Asey told her. "He had a silence. I shouldn't wonder if he didn't intend to silence the cop an' take his shells then. Maybe he was just waitin' for some chance when he could get 'em. But he runs into you, an' into me."

"Now, what about Eloise?"

"Let's settle this first. Tonight our friend comes right out in the open, apparently havin' decided he ain't gettin' places with his skulkin'. Barges up in his car—"

"My car," Lane said.

"Your car, that he's previously borrowed from the fillin' station. I should think that kid there might lose a lot of cars, if that's the way he looks after 'em. Anyway, fellow comes with his radio goin' full blast, to make us think it's a bunch of kids or parkers or tourists, or all three in one. Reverses his ordinary methods. Grabs the figure that's down, thinkin' of course it's the same one that was down the other night. Only Lane's mended the one he wants, an' this is the other. But not bein' a fool, when he's through his searchin', he dumps it out on the road for someone to find, so's we'll think that it was just kids havin' fun."

"Risk involved?"

"WOULDN'T he have done the same," Kay said, "if he'd got the right figure?"

"Sure. He'd have dumped that after he got the shells. But it come over me sudden about Lane fixin' 'em, an' I just wondered if there wasn't a chance the fellow got fooled. If a pranky soul was after 'em, they'd take the one nearest the road, not this that was farthest away. They'd think it was a bunch of kids or parkers or tourists, or all three in one. Today

Today is the price by which the future is bought.

In the market of life the price will bring naught.

The things that concern us, are not those gone by.

Live well your today, for tomorrow you die.

Try not to recall the moments now flown.

Sigh not for the harvest of grain you have sown.

The crop we shall reap in the future depends.

On the efforts put forth in today, ere it ends.

Cryng—Then I take back what I just said about wishing I was a boy again.

Little Things

Great satisfaction lies in humble service well performed. No task is too small to be slighted, too insignificant to command the best there is in us. There can be no real contentment unless we are certain that we have given each day what rightfully belongs to it.

Employer—Did you put that note where it would attract Mr. Smith's attention?

Office Boy—Yes, I stuck a pin through it and put it on his chair.

The "glamor girls" all seem to get married, but somehow "glamor wife" does not sound either inexpensive or permanent.

Henpeck (who has just overheard his wife scolding the maid)—You and I both seem to be in the same unfortunate position, Jane. Maid—Not likely! I'm giving her a week's notice tomorrow.

"I've heard that Mr. Jones walks in his sleep."

"Fancy, and they with two automobiles."

Of course, you never stole a dime in your life. But stealing 20 minutes from a busy man is worse than stealing a dime.

The mother was consoling her husband who was a bit grouchy over a letter he had received from the family's son, now attending college. "Now don't get so disturbed, John," she soothed. "In the case of such young men as our boy, you know allowances must be made."

Lives of great men all remind us that the great have their faults and weaknesses too.

School principal—What would you like your son to specialize in?

Has he ever shown any particular taste?

Mother—Yes, for apple pie.

The gown that was the envy of every other woman two months ago is "that old thing" today.

Made Right Move

Rochester (AP)—Comptroller Louis B. Cartwright is convinced the city made a wise move in reducing the interest penalty on delinquent taxes to two per cent.

The city has $8,196,469 in delinquent taxes on its books. Since the reduction went into effect, gold certificates, evidently stored away in overstuffed safes, tin boxes and other secret caches, in $50, $20 and $10 denominations have been pouring in to settle back taxes. More than $65,000 in antiquated money has been received, Cartwright said.

Counterfeit
Worthington, Ind. — Started tourists on U. S. Highway 67 hurried into this southern Indiana town to report they'd seen a tiger.

Town Marshal W. T. Conway and three fellow big-game hunters armed themselves and ventured out to shoot the beast.

By the roadside they came upon a stuffed leopard.

School children had stolen the dummy from a small museum and set it up to scare passersby.

Hooked!
Spokane, Wash. — Mrs. Nettie Dickens walked into emergency hospital. She looked desperate—but she was speechless.

She scribbled a note. An attendant rushed her through a minor operation. Words of gratitude flowed freely.

Mrs. Dickens' tongue had been hooked on a prong of a partial dental plate.

Aurora, Ill. — Police Lieut. George N. Rees was handed a batch of subpoenas to serve but he had difficulty locating one of the witnesses, Rees, Geo.

He went to Roy Parmalee, who had summoned the witness in a breach of the peace case, to learn where he could locate Geo.

"You're it," said Parmalee. "That's Rees, Geo. N. Just serve yourself, lieutenant."

TALKS DESPITE DEATH THREATS

Stamps In The News

By James B. Hatcher

When tiny Albania got the Axis on Good Friday, a philatelic scheme of colorful King Zog was still-born. Zog had planned to release at least one stamp in honor of his first son.

Shortly after the king hit upon the stamp plan Queen Geraldine was forced to flee to Greece with the two-day-old heir because of the Italian invasion. Zog soon followed them.

Albania may continue to issue its own stamps, but it can be taken for granted that the King will not permit a stamp to be issued which would remind the Albanians of their exiled royal family.

A Work Of Art
Argentina issued a stamp which is almost breathtaking in its beauty.

In delicately shaded green hues, the stamp shows a drawing of the Argentine training-ship, "Presidente Sarmiento," sailing on the sea.

The vessel is named after one of Argentina's greatest heroes, President Sarmiento, who held office from 1868 to 1874. Value of the stamp is five centavos, and perforation is 13.

Coming Up In The U. S.
Now that three of the four stamps commemorating the formation of the U. S. government are out of the way and the fourth already provided for—the Post Office Department is mulling plans for new stamps. These three are the most discussed items:

Famous Americans—Plans now call for the appearance of a series of stamps commemorating Americans beginning late this year. The series will be divided into about a dozen sets of five stamps each, in denominations of one, 1½, two, three and five cents.

Each set will carry portraits of persons who have been outstanding in a certain field, such as literature, music, science, or painting. The capitol is being deluged with suggestions; and postal officials now have scouts out doing research to determine the most deserving Americans to be honored.

Final selection will be made by President Roosevelt, who, incidentally, is an ardent booster of the series.

States' Birthdays—Fifty years ago in 1889, four states (Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Washington) were admitted to the Union. Now patriots in those states are urging the Postal Department to issue semicentennial commemoratives. Local K. of C. Plans For Communion

The members of the committee in charge of the annual corporate communion and breakfast of the Knights of Columbus will meet Thursday, April 27, at 7:30 o'clock, to make final plans for this affair, it was announced today.

Present indications point to a successful function. Members who are going to attend are urged, however, to obtain tickets as soon as possible so that proper reservations can be made with the hotel management. Tickets can be purchased from any member of the committee, at either of the O'Reilly stores, and at the K. of C. club rooms. Bill Joyce, Ellenville, D. N. McElhenry, Gardiner, Joe Campbell, Saugerties, and Ray Morris, New Paltz, will have tickets for out of town members.

As a novel feature of the occasion moving pictures will be taken at the church, of the procession of automobiles en route to the hotel and also at the hotel. Tickets for the movies will be shown at a subsequent meeting of the council.

A police motorcycle escort, furnished through the courtesy of the police department, will accompany the parade to the hotel. Mass will be celebrated at the church of the Holy Name in Wilbur. Parking facilities have been arranged and signs will be placed to aid in this respect.

A fine menu has been planned by the Governor Clinton Hotel. During breakfast an orchestra will entertain. Following this a brief speaking program will be presented.

Shansi Buddhist Images Thought 15 Centuries Old

For nearly 15 centuries a multitude, literally hundreds of thousands, of Buddhist images carved in the living sandstone cliffs at Yun Kang, in northern Shansi, have looked down from man-hewn caves upon the drama of Chinese history. They are the work of the Toba Tatars, who fought their way here from the Lake Baikal region, set up the Northern Wei dynasty, and from Tatung ruled all North China from A. D. 386 to 534.

Enthralled alternately with Chinese Confucian and Taoist culture and with the Buddhist faith to which they were recent converts, these fiery people pursued a wayward course. For a time they severely persecuted Buddhism and destroyed its monuments; but in 452, under a new emperor, they developed a plan of creating Buddhist images which would defy destruction and outlast any future persecution.

To this end they brought to their capital, Ping Cheng, near the site of the present Tatung, more than 30,000 families from the conquered area of Tun Huang and put them to work cutting the Yun Kang caves and carving the Buddhas. These impressed workers had artistic skill and practical knowledge of cave temples, for under Buddhist influence they had constructed similar monuments in their former home.

The work at Yun Kang probably went on until A. D. 516, although the larger portion, tremendous as it is, must have been done during a brief period. With the continued conquests of the Toba, the capital of their empire was moved in 494 southward to Loyang, where the still ardent force of Buddhism created the caves of Lung Men. Thus the records of Wei dynasty art are fuller and surer than those of any other early period.

The Yun Kang sculptures are evidence of the impact of a powerful religion upon a people of strong emotion. There is a childlike spirituality about them which indicates that their makers had not long been subjected to the calm and settled Chinese culture.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 26, 1939.

QUIET CITY

New York and other cities trying to get rid of unnecessary noise should study Guatemala City. A recent visitor there reports that the people are amazingly calm and courteous, to each other as well as to visitors.

"They even work quietly," she adds. "In the heart of the city an enormous palace is being constructed for President Ubico, but you would never know it if you listened for riveting and hammering sounds. They must be weaving it together!"

This peaceful quality is found in traffic, too. There is "no wild honking of horns and crazy driving." Drivers all seem to obey traffic regulations as a matter of course. There isn't even any speeding on highways outside of the city. As you drive from the city a policeman notes the license number of your car and telephones it ahead to the next station along the road. Then, if you get there sooner than you should, you pay a fine no matter how slowly you are going when you arrive. It's an unbeatable system, says the traveler, for even taxi drivers watch the time as well as the speed. If they forget briefly and step on the accelerator they promptly drop back to a speed slow enough to make up the right average.

That would hardly do on our own fine inter-city highways, unless the permitted speed was reasonably high. Yet it's interesting to know of a land where the gas engine and leisure and quiet exist simultaneously and harmoniously.

LITTLE REFUGEES

Helen Hayes, urging Congress to admit 20,000 German refugee children during the next two years in addition to regular immigrant quotas, spoke not as actress but mother.

"I beg of you to let them come in," she pleaded. "The real feeling of every American is that there is always room for one more. When I read that England and Holland had opened their doors to them, I prayed that we would do the same. I just can't believe that this country of mine and yours has no room for them. It just isn't like us. These are children, little children, who now turn to us with outstretched hands."

She will take one herself, she says, "sight unseen."

By a striking coincidence, at the same time that this plea was being made, Adolf Hitler, whose policies are responsible for this pitiful refugee problem, was shown in newspapers and films in a kindly, fatherly pose, surrounded by children and holding them by the hand.

Never mind that. Cruelty and sentimentality often go together. People who are kindly with both their hearts and their heads will do their best to ease the hard lot of those little refugees.

THAT ALMIGHTY "AXIS"

"The West has played one card in the Balkans, and the Axis is about to play the next," remarked a diplomat the other day. Everywhere you turn in these days, you hear solemn talk of that "Axis." The dictators speak of it as if it were some impersonal and superhuman force, capable of working its will like Fate or God.

And what is that wonderful Axis? It is merely a partnership of two ruthless and ambitious men, who have joined in an unnatural monopoly of the human and natural resources of their own countries to dominate Europe, perhaps, the world, for their own glory.

The Axis is not superhuman. It is human. It is Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini pretending to be Germany and Italy and trying to hijack modern civilization.

It would help to preserve our sanity about such matters if we avoided the superstition and metaphysics and simply referred to these earth-shakers as Adolf and Benito.

DOLLARS AND MEN

William Allen White, the famous Kansas editor, who rises up and throws a liberal monkeywrench into the machinery about every so often, has gone and done it again. Speaking at Washington as president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors the other day, he advised his fellow-editors to keep their "excess steam heat" for Stalin, Mussolini and Hitler and "not emote too heavily" about political issues here at home.

He was not referring to old-line political controversy, Mr. White added, but to fundamental new questions involving property rights.

These property rights, he admitted, are being narrowed. And this process, he declared, would continue "as new inventions produce new moralities and require new checks to establish a fair balance in the relation between the dollar and the man."

Dollars and men do seem to get out of balance from time to time, and there is usually a bitter struggle before a new balance is established. Mr. White's idea is to be open-minded about it and ease the transition period.

Efficiency is a way of doing things so quickly that you can spend the rest of your time wishing you had something to do.

The chief value of peace proposals, at present, is to keep people believing that there is such a thing as peace.

Most of the statesmen who think they're running for president aren't even crawling.

DIARRHOEA—HARMFUL OR HARMLESS

You read much about constipation because between 40 to 60 per cent of adults are constipated to some extent. Physicians in charge of outdoor and indoor hospital clinics state that perhaps as high as 70 per cent of their patients give a history of constipation.

There is a large number of individuals who suffer with diarrhea and if it is not too severe they are content because they feel that they would sooner have diarrhea than be constipated. Diarrhea is frequent during the warm weather.

What causes diarrhea? Diarrhea results from disorders of the small intestine and may be organic or functional (not organic). It may also result from disorders of the large intestine and from disorders of other organs—liver, stomach, nerves.

As diarrhea may be due to simple or innocent causes, or to serious or organic changes, the cause should be sought, to allay or ease the mind or to prevent serious consequences.

The difference between the functional (innocent or non-organic) diarrhea and the organic (diarrhea due to changes in the lining of the small intestine caused by dangerous organisms or growths, is outlined by Dr. Harry Gauss in his book "Clinical Dietetics."

Functional diarrhea: 1. The onset is sudden. 2. The direct cause is immediate or known (a) the recent eating of unripe fruit or vegetables, (b) recent eating of contaminated foods, (c) emotional stress or upsetment, (d) sudden changes in the weather. 3. Diarrhea is the principal symptom and lasts but a short time. 4. Cramps may be present and very little, if any, pain at any one spot in the abdomen. 5. There is no blood or pus in the stools. 6. There is little or no loss of weight, fever, or anorexia, although a feeling of weakness may be present. 7. The X-ray examination shows an increased amount of movement, but no trouble at any one spot.

Organic diarrhea: 1. The diarrhea comes on slowly and is almost unnoticed. 2. The direct cause is unknown as the trouble which started the diarrhea may have occurred days, weeks, or months before, (a) the food or beverage which was contaminated with harmful organisms or parasites had been eaten, (b) diarrhea due to poisons is gradual. 3. Diarrhea is principal symptom, lasts a long time, blood and pus are commonly found, pain and cramps mostly in one spot. 4. There is fever, weight loss, and anorexia. 5. The harmful organisms or parasites may be found in the stools.

NLRB Decision in Favor of Employees Liked to Postpone Election in 1940, if Democrats Chose

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 26.—Supporting congress, dominated as it is by a Democratic majority, passed a law delegating to a commission three Democrats appointed by the President the power to decide whether, if circumstances are not favorable to the Democrats in 1940, the national election might be postponed until such time as the commission of three members desired, would.

People say congress had a constitutional right to delegate such discretionary power to anybody? Yet at the current hearings before the Senate committee on labor, it appears that the National Labor Relations Board has received from congress power to postpone an election among employees whenever in the judgment of the board it thinks the atmosphere of the community in which the election is to be held is not to the liking of the board.

Out in Westwood, California, the employees of a lumber company are conceding in favor of the A. F. of L., and representatives of the National Labor Relations Board admit it is likely to be the outcome of the election, but they decline to hold the election. The law says the labor board "may" order an election. It does not use the word "shall," and congress is now being asked to amend a law which it wrote carelessly, a law which gives the board the widest latitude and which it is interpreting according to its judgment and not by any legislative standards laid down by congress.

The facts are recited by Charles J. Janigan, legal advisor to the California Federation of Labor who says in a formal communication concerning the delay of several months with respect to the holding of an election among the employees:

"Toward the end of January of this year, when I again appeared to one of the attorneys for the board that he do something to speed up the election, I was astounded to hear him say that I might as well know the truth, and that there would be no election until the company had fulfilled its promise of building the C.I.O. an office, and for sufficient time to allow to permit the C.I.O. to become established in Westwood. It was plain to see from this statement of the board attorney, and the dilatory tactics of the board, that they had no intention of holding an election."

Chairman Madden, in commenting on this situation before the Senate committee, spoke of the feeling in the community of Westwood against the C.I.O., and he declared the board took this into consideration in postponing the election. Here is an extract from the committee hearing:

"Senator Holt of West Virginia: You made a statement that you sometimes hold elections off until the community cooled off."

"Chairman Madden: Yes."

"Senator Holt: Are all of those cooling off processes a question of community pressure against a particular union or not?"

"Chairman Madden: Nearly always they are."

"Senator Holt: Have you any instance where you have withheld election until the community cooled off—and on a campaign of organizing?"

"Mr. Madden: No, not at all."

"Senator Holt: In order that I might have the facts clear, can you recall any particular elections that were withheld until the community cooled off?"

"Mr. Madden: Yes, there is one which is just now being withheld for that purpose, the case of the Red River Lumber Company in Westwood, California."

"Senator Holt: Because the community has an anti-union attitude, is that correct?"

"Mr. Madden: I only know what reports we get from our agents out there about recent events, but my understanding from the reports is that the company's conduct in recent months has been proper, but the community and the one faction of labor have not made it possible yet to hold what we regard as a fair election."

Other testimony showed that the "one faction of labor" is the A. F. of L., and that the community and the dominant labor group—the one which has a substantial majority of the employees—are opposed to the C.I.O., but the labor board considers itself well within the rights given it by Congress when it postpones the election until such time as in the judgment of the board there can be a "fair election."

Labor leaders have often compared collective bargaining and economic democracy to political democracy and congressional or presidential elections, but it is apparent that a governmental board created by act of congress has the power to deny an expression of the will of the majority and has the authority to permit indefinite electioneering until such time as the governmental board thinks conditions or membership or public sentiment equalizes the relative disadvantages of one side or the other as the case may be.

When congress delegates power so broadly, the board, like any other government tribunal, will exercise such power. In this instance, the board members feel sincerely that they should postpone an election, but it is a question whether congress realized it was delegating such a discretionary authority to the labor board when the law was first passed. If one regards today the opinion of Chief Justice Hughes and the other eight justices, including the late Justice Cardozo, about "delegation run riot" in the NRA case, it would seem as if congress now faces full responsibility for another unconstitutional delegation of power.

Authorities Check Hopeful Reports On Missing Youth

Word From South Indicates Young Cure of Pine Hill May Be Seeking Job; Sheriff Acts

A possibility that Howard Cure, missing University of Alabama student, may be seeking work in the south has developed following word from Mobile, Ala., that a young man answering the Pine Hill youth's description was employed there for two weeks shortly after he disappeared from the university in March.

Today Sheriff Abram Molyneux was sending to Mobile police specimens of the youth's handwriting in an effort to check it against sales slips, which a young man answering Cure's description, made during the two weeks he was employed.

Photographs of the missing 18-year-old youth have been circulated widely throughout the south and it was in response to this means of locating him that H. H. Thomas of H. M. Price Mercantile Company of Mobile notified authorities that he had identified someone who applied to his firm for work in March as Cure. He said the young man was quiet and timid and had worked the last two weeks in March under the name of Howard Carson and then left.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Grant Cure of Pine Hill have asked Sheriff Molyneux to communicate with several southern city police forces and today a letter with the description of him have gone out to Montgomery, Ala.; Jackson, Miss.; New Orleans, Mobile and also Miami and Jacksonville, Florida.

Thomas said that a youth who he identifies as Cure applied for a job but failed to make good. The boy said his home was in New York state and financial difficulties made it necessary for him to secure work.

After working for the last two weeks in March young Cure disappeared and authorities say he had cashed a check just before he left.

Specimens of Cure's handwriting will be sent to Mobile and also to other cities in the south in an effort to check his whereabouts. It is believed he is seeking work.

Officer Relates 'Big Trout' Story

When a traffic officer tells you to move along there is no need to dispute his word, likewise when a police officer tells a most unusual story of his fishing experiences there is no need to doubt him, especially when he has a witness.

Some pretty tall tales have been told of fishing in the Ashokan reservoir but Officer William Krum, on bank duty, tells one which is eligible to go down in the book.

After work Tuesday "Bill" with Stanton Warren of the Kingston Savings Bank staff went fishing at Markle's cove. Hardly had his line hit the water when a fish took hold and began to run. Calling for the landing net, the officer started to play his fish. After considerable effort the fish was brought to gaff and as it was hauled up to the landing net and scooped up it was found to be a 23-inch brown trout but most marvelous of all was the fact that in its activities it had thrown the hook from its mouth and in its running had rolled itself up in the line. When landed the only hold Krum had on his prize was through the line which had become wrapped several times about the fish. The hooks were entirely free. Bill swears the story is true.

"No comment" was the reply of FBI officials to reports that agents in a midwestern city had learned that one of the Crosby children was first on a kidnap gang's list of intended victims or that, as a result, warrants had been issued to others prominent in the motion picture colony.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Refuse anything else. At all drug stores, 10¢ and 25¢.

Styles Injured By Flying Stone

Edward B. Styles, investigator for Old Age Relief under Deputy Commissioner Henry Lamouree of Saugerties, suffered a broken shoulder Tuesday in a most unusual manner.

Driving from Rosendale to Kingston with Commissioner Lamouree their car passed a truck from the Tschirky farm at New Paltz and operated by an employee. Just as the truck passed the car of Mr. Lamouree a large cobble stone which was on the pavement was struck by the truck wheel and hurled through the windshield of the car.

The stone, about the size of a man's fist, crashed through the windshield on the side where Mr. Styles was seated, and it struck him full on the shoulder with such force that the shoulder was broken. At the time Mr. Styles was seated in a crouching position in one corner of the seat and had been seated in the usual position the stone would have struck him in the face, probably with sufficient force to inflict fatal injuries.

The driver of the truck, unaware of the accident, continued but was overtaken by Mr. Lamouree and notified of the accident. At Kingston Hospital an X-ray was taken of the injury and later Mr. Styles was taken to his home.

Mrs. Linton Named On Bridge Group

Mrs. Nettie Linton of 46 Green street, former county committee woman and Democratic leader, has been named a member of the Beechhurst Property Owners and Civic Association committee to take part in the opening of the Whitestone-Bronx bridge this week, it was learned today.

Mrs. Linton was active in civic affairs and a leader in the movement for erection of the bridge, prior to coming to Kingston to live.

During her residence at Beechhurst about eight years ago Mrs. Linton was a member of the Beechhurst Civic League and was very active in the movement then being started for the erection of this bridge and residents of the town attribute the success of the movement to the continued activity and circulation of petitions which Mrs. Linton carried on.

Dedication exercises will be held Friday, April 28, and as a member of the committee, Mrs. Linton will participate in the ceremonies. Among the distinguished guests will be Mayor LaGuardia, Borough President George U. Harvey, Presidents Lyons of Bronx and Levy of Manhattan.

Opening of the new Whitestone-Bronx bridge will develop the center of the island and give access to beaches and provide a direct route to upper New York state, New England and New Jersey from Long Island.

Tokorow Taken in Charge By Ellis Island Officer

A guard from Ellis Island yesterday took Paul Nicholas Tokorow to New York for deportation to Canada, from which place it is charged, he illegally entered this country a couple of years ago. Tokorow had been held at the Ulster county jail following an accident near Stone Ridge during the investigation of which it was disclosed that he had made illegal entry into this country. He was given suspended sentences on three charges arising out of the accident when arraigned before Justice L. D. Sahler at Stone Ridge Saturday and was then held for the immigration authorities.

Roosevelt Plan Given Approval

ing the president direct charge of the budget bureau.

Critics of specific provisions admitted, however, that they were at a great disadvantage in getting any action on their criticisms. Congress cannot reject or amend any section of "Plan No. 1." It must disapprove the whole scheme if at all.

Two more reorganization plans, the President told reporters, are yet to be submitted. These will deal with shifting bureaus from one department to another and with reorganizing the machinery within individual departments.

The intra-departmental reorganization, Mr. Roosevelt said, will include a merger of the six investigative agencies of the treasury, among them the famed secret service.

The three new agencies proposed yesterday will correspond, it is believed, to major departments, although their chiefs will not have cabinet status and will get $12,000 a year compared with the $15,000 paid cabinet officers. Each of the new administrators will have a $9,000-a-year assistant.

It was authoritatively reported that Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC was most likely to become chief of the lending agency. There was speculation that Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security agency, might head the new security agency.

There were unofficial estimates that about 90,000 federal employees would be shifted under the program. Any with civil service status whose jobs are ended will have first call for vacancies.

Units to go into the new federal security agency are the social security board, U. S. employment service, office of education, public health service, National Youth Administration and the CCC.

The works agency will consist of the PWA, the WPA, the bureau of public roads, the public building branch of the treasury's procurement division, a part of the building management branch of the national park service, and the U. S. housing authority.

Forming the federal loan agency will be the RFC, Electric Home and Farm Authority, RFC Mortgage Company, Disaster Loan Corporation, Federal National Mortgage Association, Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Home Owners Loan Corporation, Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, Federal Housing Administration and Export-Import Bank of Washington.

Young Man Presented
In Recital Program

David Donald Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Hicks of Clinton avenue, a pupil of Lina M. Schmidt, was presented last evening in a short piano recital in the high school auditorium. He was assisted by Leo J. Boice, baritone.

Young Hicks played a program which was professional in its make-up and embraced the works of Beethoven, Chopin, Godard, Tchaikovsky, Jeffery and Schumann. The hallmarked of his performance was a remarkable digital dexterity. The limitations of the instrument hindered the production of round tones but the compositions best rendered were in his second group, the "Hunting Song" of Jeffery, "Venetienne" of Godard and "Polacca de Concert" of Tchaikovsky and his closing number "Papillons" by Schumann.

Still in his middle teen years and with his technic well developed and at his command, this young pianist will find that the ability for self expression, gained through older emotional experiences will carry him along in the musical career which he has chosen for himself.

Leo Boice, who assisted the pianist, is also a young man. His numbers included "Hear Me! Ye Winds and Waves" by Handel, "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter and "Invictus" by Huhn, the best of which was the Quilter number. He was accompanied by Leonard Stine.

This is the first time in a number of years that Miss Schmidt has presented a pupil in a single recital, invitations to which had been issued to a select group. Not only does it offer an opportunity for the public to hear a young musician but the experience for the pupil is invaluable.

Friends of the young men who acted as ushers were John McCullough, Robert Messinger, Abram Molyneux, James Farrell, William Grothkopf, William Darling, Eugene MacConnell and Richard Dunn.

Boice-Gray

A pretty wedding took place Sunday evening in the Glenford M. E. Church when Miss Elizabeth Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gray, became the bride of Alton Boice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gentile Boice. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. B. Glenwood. James Stoutenburg sang, "Oh Promise Me" and the wedding march was played by the church organist, Vivien Stoutenburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white chiffon, with tight bodice and square neck. Her veil was of tulle caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor was Miss Ethel Gray who wore gold brocade satin and carried pink roses. Other attendants were Mrs. Herbert Gray, Mrs. Donald DuBois, Mrs. Palmer Conright and Miss Gladys Gray. They wore pastel taffeta and carried pink roses. Earl Stoutenburg was best man and Ronald Gray and Griffin Stoutenburg acted as ushers. Billy Gray was the ring bearer. A reception followed at the church hall for about 100 guests.

Rathlev-Kraus

Miss Gertrude Kraus, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Kraus of Albany avenue extension and the late Andrew Kraus was married Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to John Rathlev of Floral Park, L. I. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edmund Burke in the rectory of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church.

The bride wore robin's-egg blue with duobonnet accessories and a corsage of white roses and valley lilies. She was attended by her sister, Miss Carolyn Kraus, who wore dusty rose with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Richard Koenig of Franklin Square, L. I., was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, and was attended by some 80 relatives and friends. The tables were artistically decorated with spring flowers and ferns. Snapdragons, tulips and laurel formed a background for the bridal table.

Mr. Rathlev is employed by the Edison Company of New York city and following a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Rathlev will reside in Franklin Square, L. I.

Many people came during the evening to view the prints which, as announced, will remain on exhibition in the sun parlor of the Governor Clinton Hotel until Thursday. The public is invited.

Hidden In Dreams

Understand Dream Symbols

What a strange dream Jack is having! He seems to be losing his eyesight, becoming totally blind.

Awake—he'll probably pool-poo his dream. But to a psychologist it spells a warning. Jack's blindness symbolizes emotions undermining his waking life. He's been led to believe that others take advantage of him on the job. Harmful influences "blind" him to the true facts. Unless Jack snaps out of it he'll ruin a splendid future.

Important to heed dreams, no matter how queer or foolish. In sleep the unconscious mind expresses hidden emotions, desires, conflicts, of which our conscious selves are often totally unaware. Are your dreams violent ones—nightmares of earthquakes, storms? Your own temperament has an unbridled side that you must guard against. Or perhaps you dream of falling off a cliff, wandering endlessly in a dark place?

Our 32-page booklet explains a famous psychologist explains the messages such dreams have for you. Discusses dream symbols, how to interpret your dreams to build a richer, better-balanced personality.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of THE MEANING OF DREAMS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Monkey Island
The happiest monkeys in the world are the 500 inhabitants of the island of Santiago, according to visitors who have returned from Puerto Rico. Though now ranging over the tropical paradise like old-timers, the monkey inhabitants were all imported from India this winter. To reach their new home they had to make a journey of 14,000 miles, said to be the longest on record for so large a shipment of animals. With the exception of 25 gibbons, the monkeys are all of the rhesus type which are held sacred in India, and are noted for their rather cross and irritable dispositions.

Replica of Fair Exhibited Here

The famous scale model of the World's Fair in New York city is now on exhibition in the lobby of the Governor Clinton Hotel. It was announced this morning. It is an exact replica to scale of the New York World's Fair grounds which are over three miles in length and a mile and a half in width, containing 1,216½ acres. The model shows the location of all the buildings, Constitution Mall, the lagoons, amphitheatres, parking spaces and in fact the entire layout of the fair grounds. The model itself is about seven feet long by three and a half feet wide and weighs over 400 pounds. It required over four months to construct and has been on exhibit in the World's Fair headquarters in the Empire State Building in New York city. It affords an excellent opportunity to "preview" the fair and, for this reason attracts much attention.

Touch of Summer Fades to Spring

Summer took a bow Tuesday in Kingston, but retired today in favor of spring, who returned with the usual April showers. The official city thermometer recorded a high of 85 degrees at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. This morning at 10 o'clock a recording of 52 degrees was reported.

Yesterday, however, was not the warmest April day of record, for the records at the city hall show that April 26 of last year a high of 91 degrees was recorded, and on April 20 in 1937, a high of 84 degrees was reported. March 23, last year a high of 83 degrees was recorded.

Rules Bolivia

German Busch, (above) president of Bolivia, abolished constitutional guarantees and dissolved congress, explaining this was necessary in an "economic crisis." He said, however, he would call general elections "at an opportune moment."

Group Is Given Sublime Degree

In one of the most largely attended communications of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., held in some time, a class of five candidates, was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason Tuesday night. Those raised were Richard Morton Kalish, Agnew Nicholas Van Gelder, Richard Daniel Lane, Henry Chase Page and Harry R. LeFevre, Jr.

Samuel D. Scudder, Jr., master of the lodge, presided at the session and heading the outstanding work of the degree team was Roger H. Loughran, past master and past district deputy.

The visitors register showed the presence of 100 or more members of other lodges, including numerous masters and past masters. One notable guest was Walter S. Gedney, past grand representative of the Grand Lodge of Virginia, now of Nyack, who was accorded the grand honors.

Among lodges represented by delegations were Harmony Lodge of Newton, N. J., Connetquot Lodge of Saville, Margaretville Lodge, Ulster Lodge of Saugerties, Walkill Lodge, Mountain Lodge of Windham, Wawarsing Lodge of Ellenville, Rondout Lodge and others.

At the close of the session there was a service of strawberries and ice cream.

Washington Anniversary
W. M. Scudder announced during the lodge session that the grand master has asked members of all Masonic lodges to make a special point of church attendance next Sunday, in observance of the 150th anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as president of the United States.

Edward J. Hillis, past master of Rondout Lodge, invited the members of No. 10 to meet with Rondout Lodge and attend service at St. James Church Sunday night. They will gather in the Sunday School room of the church at 7:15 o'clock and attend the service in a body.

Group Vaccinated Against Smallpox

Fifty-seven persons, mostly children, were vaccinated against smallpox by Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, at the weekly free clinic held in the health board rooms in the city hall on Tuesday afternoon. This was two more than were vaccinated last week.

Dr. Sanford also immunized some 15 children against diphtheria at the clinic.

These clinics are held every Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock at the city hall when parents may bring their children to be immunized against diphtheria and also to be vaccinated if desired.

Expert Explains Identity of Fish

Many trout are taken each year from the Ashokan Reservoir and lower waters of the Esopus creek of which the specie is in doubt by the person making the catch. The following letter received from Dr. John R. Greeley, ichthyologist of the conservation department, may help in establishing the identity of such fish:

Nelson W. Snyder, president, Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Snyder:
The very beautiful trout which reached me via Mr. Kingsbury has been checked for identification, and I have turned it over to Commissioner Osborne with your compliments. Thanks very much for the fish and information.

This fish is a brown trout (Salmo fario) in the silvery coloration which occurs in large lakes or in sea-run fish.

It is well known that rainbow trout, under certain conditions, become "steelhead" but it is not so well recognized among sportsmen that the brown trout has a similar form. In England the various variations of brown trout are sometimes designated as "river trout," "Loch Leven trout" and "sea trout." They are all the same species. There may, however, be "races" among them that vary considerably. It is recorded that when the ordinary river brown trout were stocked in New Zealand a portion of the resulting population became "sea trout." Our own situation in the Ashokan and some other lakes would tend to support the view that ordinary brown trout can, in at least a portion of the population, become silvery. When silvery they are exactly like Loch Leven trout, which is a lake population, and do not show any red spots.

There are various structural characters of scale counts, etc., but the best rough check is to look at the adipose fin. It shows some reddish color and is very large in a brown trout, also the fins are usually quite yellowish. The lack of red spots and the X-shaped or irregular black spots made the sides of the fish look just the same in brown trout, salmon or steelhead (rainbow) so they are very confusing.

From the Esopus and Ashokan I have seen four different colorations of trout, i. e., rainbow-colored rainbows, silvery rainbows (steelhead), usual color of brown trout and silvery brown trout coloration (of which your fish is a good example). Well, whatever difficulties you may have in identifying these fish, I hope that you will have your share of luck with them.

Sincerely yours,
J. R. GREELEY,
Ichthyologist.

That's what home owners say about the Model P Petro & Nokol Oil Burner. Omaha Will Be Sandwich Man For Premiere of Union Pacific

Omaha, Neb., April 26 (P).—Omaha became today a sandwich man for the cinema.

Along her roped-off streets strolled thousands of newly bearded men and women in wide-bottomed gingham dresses. Indians pitched their tepees on the court house lawn.

Bell boys hopped about hotel lobbies clad in buckskin uniforms, with powder horns hanging from their waists. Shoppers smiled prettily under 1869 hair styles. Bartenders slashed the foam from glasses of beer with sinister hunting knives.

Civic Bender

Officially Omaha was launching a four day civic bender called "The Golden Spike Days," but none had any doubt about the real purpose of the party. Omaha hasn't been growing beards on an estimated 20,000 in its men folk, or putting an equal number of its women into gingham and calico for anything so trivial as a commemoration of the driving of the last spike in the Union Pacific railroad. Omaha is doing all this for Hollywood.

The picture is "Union Pacific." To make sure that Omaha and the rest of the country realizes just how spectacular it is, Hollywood is sending a special train here for the world premiere Friday—a special train which it says is costing $600,000, counting the salaries of the actors and geniuses who are on it.

Among Those Present

Among those Omaha bound for the premiere are Cecil DeMille, Barbara Stanwyck, the star who suffers right up to the last reel at which time Joe McRea, who also is aboard the special train, wins her heart and hand, George Raft, and a few others.

From New York on Thursday will come W. A. Harriman, chairman of the board of Union Pacific, and a party of financiers, to join William Jeffers, president of the railroad.

Experts say that never in history has an American city lent itself so frankly to ballyhoo. Citizens are even paying scalpers up to $17 for single tickets to "Union Pacific's" premiere, and the excitement is so high that the picture will have a simultaneous showing in three theatres. New York never did that.

Poles Meet Sunday At White Eagle

An important meeting, to which all Polish people residing in Kingston and vicinity are cordially invited, will be held at the White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Kasimir Hudela, who has long been interested in the activities of Poles in this territory, will preside. The Rev. Stanislaus Malinowski, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, will be the first speaker on the program, while others scheduled to address the gathering will be prominent Polish leaders of New York city, Poughkeepsie and Germantown.

You be a Man from Missouri

If you really want the low-down on these new Nash cars, step right up to the next bright and shining face you see behind a Nash windshield. (You may have to shout—for when those windows are up, he can hardly hear anything on the outside.)

Don't be backward—because he's aching to tell you all. Only, if he talks like a man from California, you be a man from Missouri. Don't let him get away with a thing.

When he claims that engine is so smooth he can hardly hear it, edge inside . . . make him step on the starter and prove it. Cock your ear . . . and feel the floor-board for the vibration that isn't there.

When he boasts about the terrific pick-up of the new Nash engine—just ride with him up to the next red light. Watch his fingers flick that gear-shift—feel that cushion behind you flatten out.

Then look back to see the other cars!

When he waves his hand in the air then you know he's trying to describe the feeling of the Nash Fourth Speed Forward.* For it's not driving—it's more like flying, and Webster needs new words to describe it.

If you ask about the Nash "Weather Eye", he'll tell you how he drove all last winter without an overcoat. He'll show you now how dust, bugs, drafts, are spirited away forever. (Be sure to see the cigarette trick.)

Just try to get away without him telling about the Nash convertible bed . . . or the special soundproof-

ing and shock-absorbers that only Nash uses.

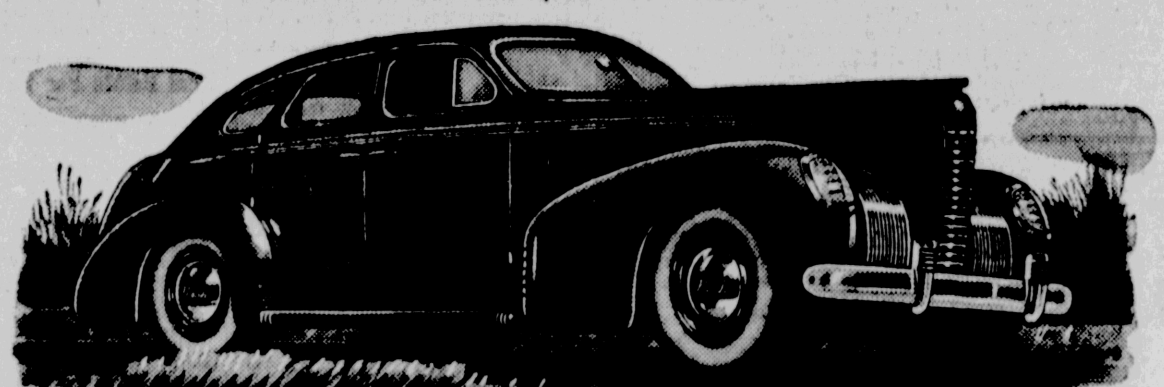

And if he tells you some whoppers about Nash economy, don't try to argue back: For these big Nash-LaFayette models beat all cars in their price class in the Gilmore-Yosemite economy run with 21.25 miles to the gallon.

According to the people who own it, this new Nash is a veritable "Paul Bunyan" of a car. There doesn't seem to be anything it can't do!

Frankly, in all our 24 years, we've never had such enthusiastic owners. We do hope you'll talk to one of them—before you buy this year. And you can't spend much less for a new car—for ten Nash models are priced next to the lowest!

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Worthington, Ind.—Startled tourists on U. S. Highway 67 hurried into this southern Indiana town to report they'd seen a tiger. Town Marshal W. T. Conway and three fellow big-game hunters armed themselves and ventured out to shoot the beast. By the roadside they came upon a stuffed leopard. School children had stolen the dummy from a small museum and set it up to scare passersby.

Hooked!
Spokane, Wash.—Mrs. Nettie Dickens walked into emergency hospital. She looked desperate—but she was speechless. She scribbled a note. An attendant rushed her through a minor operation. Words of gratitude flowed freely. Mrs. Dickens' tongue had been hooked on a prong of a partial dental plate.

Deaths Last Night
Aurora, Ill.—Police Lieut. George N. Rees was handed a batch of subpoenas to serve but he had difficulty locating one of the witnesses, Rees, Geo. He went to Roy Parmelee, who had summoned the witnesses in a breach of the peace case, to learn where he could locate Geo. "You're it," said Parmelee. "That's Rees, Geo. N. Just serve yourself, lieutenant."

The annual school meeting of School District No. 1, town of Esopus, will be held at the school Tuesday, May 2, at 8 o'clock, day-light saving time.

Mrs. John T. Groves attended the Donald Hicks recital held last evening in the Kingston High School.

Choir rehearsal will be held at the Reformed Church tomorrow evening. The junior choir will rehearse at 7:15 o'clock and the senior choir at 7:45 o'clock.

Dynamite Action
 Dunkirk.—A "dynamite" scare emptied the Dunkirk police station in record time. Police Lieut. John Kurilinski asked an itinerant applying for a night's lodging if he had any belongings. "Nothing except these," the man replied placing five long red sticks on the desk. Bystanders took a quick look and fled shouting "dynamite." Closer inspection revealed the sticks as railroad fuses which the itinerant said he had found.

TALKS DESPITE DEATH THREATS

Stamps In The News

By James B. Hatcher

When tiny Albania got the Axis on Good Friday, a philatelic scheme of colorful King Zog was still-born. Zog had planned to release at least one stamp in honor of his first son.

Shortly after the king hit upon the stamp plan Queen Geraldine was forced to flee to Greece with the two-day-old heir because of the Italian invasion Zog soon followed them.

Albania may continue to issue its own stamps, but it can be taken for granted that it will not permit a stamp to be issued which would remind the Albanians of their exiled royal family.

A Work Of Art
 Argentina issued a stamp which is almost breathtaking in its beauty.

In delicately shaded green hues, the stamp shows a drawing of the Argentine training-ship, "Presidente Sarmiento." This state-of-the-art ship was built in 1898 and still is seen occasionally in United States ports.

The vessel is named after one of Argentina's greatest heroes, President Sarmiento, who held office from 1868 to 1874. Value of the stamp is five centavos, and perforation is 13.

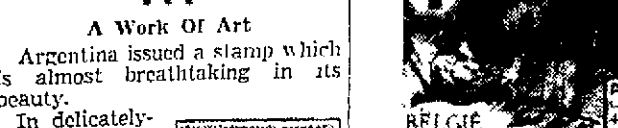

Coming Up In The U. S.
 Now that three of the four stamps commemorating the formation of the U. S. government are out of the way—and the fourth already provided for—the Post Office Department is mulling plans for new stamps. These three are the most discussed items:

Famous Americans—Plans now call for the appearance of a series portraying outstanding Americans beginning late this year. The series will be divided into about a dozen sets of five stamps each, in denominations of one, 1½, two, three and five cents.

Each set will carry portraits of persons who have been outstanding in a certain field, such as literature, music, science, or painting. The capital is being deluged with suggestions; and postal officials now have scouts out doing research to determine the most deserving Americans to be honored.

Final selection will be made by President Roosevelt, who, incidentally, is an ardent booster of the series.

States' Birthdays—Fifty years ago in 1889, four states (Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota and Washington) were admitted to the Union. Now patriots in those states are urging the Postal Department to issue semicentennial commemoratives. No verdict has been announced but some officials are understood to feel that the states should wait another half-

Shansi Buddhist Images Thought 15 Centuries Old
 For nearly 15 centuries a multitude, literally hundreds of thousands, of Buddhist images carved in the living sandstone cliffs at Yun Kang, in northern Shansi, have looked down from man-hewn caves upon the drama of Chinese history. They are the work of the Toba Tatars, who fought their way here from the Lake Baikal region, set up the Northern Wei dynasty, and from Tatum ruled all North China from A. D. 386 to 532.

Enthralled alternately with Chinese Confucian and Taoist culture and with the Buddhist faith to which they were recent converts, these fiery people pursued a wayward course. For a time they severely persecuted Buddhism and destroyed its monuments; but in 452, under a new emperor, they developed a plan of creating Buddhist images which would defy destruction and outlast any future persecution.

To this end they brought to their capital, Ping Cheng, near the site of the present Tatum, more than 30,000 families from the conquered area of Yun Huang and put them to work cutting the Yun Kang caves and carving the Buddhas. These impressed workers had artistic skill and practical knowledge of cave temples, for under Buddhist influence they had constructed similar monuments in their former home.

The work at Yun Kang probably went on until A. D. 518, although the larger portion, tremendous as it is, must have been done during a brief period. With the continued conquests of the Toba, the capital of their empire was moved in 494 southward to Loyang, where the still ardent force of Buddhism created the caves of Lung Men. Thus the records of Wei dynasty art are fuller and surer than those of any other early period.

The Yun Kang sculptures are evidence of the impact of a powerful religion upon a people of strong emotion. There is a childlike spirituality about them which indicates that their makers had not long been subjected to the calm and settled Chinese culture.

 One of the world's most frequent issuers of semi-postals, Belgium, now has three out on the occasion of the 75th anniversary of the Red Cross.

Besides the one illustrated are one in 10c plus 5c value bearing a portrait of Henri Dunant, and one in 1.75fr plus 25c value showing the royal family.

Another country to note the 75th anniversary of its Red Cross Association, by issuing a stamp is France. It has just released an adhesive bearing the portrait of a nurse. The stamp is blue on a gray background and its value is the inland ordinary fee of 90 centimes with a 35-centimes surtax.

 For nearly 15 centuries a multitude, literally hundreds of thousands, of Buddhist images carved in the living sandstone cliffs at Yun Kang, in northern Shansi, have looked down from man-hewn caves upon the drama of Chinese history. They are the work of the Toba Tatars, who fought their way here from the Lake Baikal region, set up the Northern Wei dynasty, and from Tatum ruled all North China from A. D. 386 to 532.

Enthralled alternately with Chinese Confucian and Taoist culture and with the Buddhist faith to which they were recent converts, these fiery people pursued a wayward course. For a time they severely persecuted Buddhism and destroyed its monuments; but in 452, under a new emperor, they developed a plan of creating Buddhist images which would defy destruction and outlast any future persecution.

To this end they brought to their capital, Ping Cheng, near the site of the present Tatum, more than 30,000 families from the conquered area of Yun Huang and put them to work cutting the Yun Kang caves and carving the Buddhas. These impressed workers had artistic skill and practical knowledge of cave temples, for under Buddhist influence they had constructed similar monuments in their former home.

The work at Yun Kang probably went on until A. D. 518, although the larger portion, tremendous as it is, must have been done during a brief period. With the continued conquests of the Toba, the capital of their empire was moved in 494 southward to Loyang, where the still ardent force of Buddhism created the caves of Lung Men. Thus the records of Wei dynasty art are fuller and surer than those of any other early period.

The Yun Kang sculptures are evidence of the impact of a powerful religion upon a people of strong emotion. There is a childlike spirituality about them which indicates that their makers had not long been subjected to the calm and settled Chinese culture.

Many Vets Fail To Seek Bonus

Approximately 150,000 World War veterans have not yet applied for adjusted compensation benefits, commonly known as the "bonus," Commander Charles B. Skane, Post No. 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, announced here today.

Word has been received from the V. F. W. National Service Bureau in Washington with a warning to all veterans that only nine months remain in which adjusted compensation certificates may be applied for, Commander Skane stated. According to present regulations, the right to apply for adjusted compensation benefits will expire on January 2, 1940.

According to the best available figures, 60,000 of the 150,000 have not even applied for their adjusted compensation certificates. Another 15,000 living veterans have applied for cash payment where the amounts due are less than $50 each. There are also approximately 75,000 dependents of deceased veterans who have not applied for the quarterly benefits available after the veteran's death, Commander Skane has been informed.

"It was in 1936 that the fight which the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States had led for ten years in behalf of immediate cash payment of the adjusted service certificates, finally was brought to a successful conclusion," Commander Skane explained.

More than three million World War veterans were thereby entitled to receive approximately $500 in cash each. If any of the 150,000 veterans, who have not yet received their share of the bonus payment, live in this vicinity, we are urging them to make their application immediately through the nearest veterans' administration office. It is extremely unlikely that the present period allowed for the making of applications, which will expire next January, will be extended.

Authorities Check Hopeful Reports On Missing Youth

Word From South Indicates Young Cure of Pine Hill May Be Seeking Job; Sheriff Acts

A possibility that Howard Cure, missing University of Alabama student, may be seeking work in the south has developed following word from Mobile, Ala., that a young man answering the Pine Hill youth's description was employed there for two weeks shortly after he disappeared from the university in March.

Today Sheriff Abram Molyneux was sending to Mobile police specimens of the youth's handwriting in an effort to check it against sales slips which a young man answering Cure's description, made during the two weeks he was employed.

Photographs of the missing 18-year-old youth have been circulated widely throughout the south and it was in response to this means of locating him that H. H. Thomas of H. M. Price Mercantile Company of Mobile notified authorities that he had identified someone who applied to his firm for work in March as Cure. He said the young man was quiet and timid and had worked the last two weeks in March under the name of Howard Carson and then left.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Grant Cure of Pine Hill have asked Sheriff Molyneux to communicate with several southern city police forces and today a letter with the description of him have gone out to Montgomery, Ala.; Jackson, Miss.; New Orleans, Mobile and also Miami and Jacksonville, Florida.

Thomas said that a youth who he identifies as Cure applied for a job but failed to make good. The boy said his home was in New York state and financial difficulties made it necessary for him to secure work.

After working for the last two weeks in March young Cure disappeared and authorities say he had cashed a check just before he left.

Specimens of Cure's handwriting will be sent to Mobile and also to other cities in the south in an effort to check his whereabouts. It is believed he is seeking work.

Officer Relates 'Big Trout' Story

When a traffic officer tells you to move along there is no need to dispute his word, likewise when a police officer tells a most unusual story of his fishing experiences there is no need to doubt him, especially when he has a witness.

Some pretty tall tales have been told of fishing in the Ashokan reservoir but Officer William Krum, on bank duty, tells one which is eligible to go down in the book.

After work Tuesday "Bill" with Stanton Warren of the Kingston Savings Bank staff went fishing at Markle's cove. Hardly had his line hit the water when a fish took hold and began to run. Calling for the landing net the officer started to play his fish. After considerable effort the fish was brought to gaff and as it was hauled up to the landing net and scooped up it was found to be a 23-inch brown trout but most marvelous of all was the fact that in its activities it had thrown the hook from its mouth and in its running had rolled itself up in the line. When landed the only hold the Krum had on his prize was through the line which had become wrapped several times about the fish. The hooks were entirely free. Bill swears the story is true.

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, it just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks dumb.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Styles Injured By Flying Stone

Edward B. Styles, investigator for Old Age Relief under Deputy Commissioner Henry Lamouree of Saugerties, suffered a broken shoulder Tuesday in a most unusual manner.

Driving from Rosendale to Kingston with Commissioner Lamouree their car passed a truck from the Tschirky farm at New Paltz and operated by an employee. Just as the truck passed the car of Mr. Lamouree a large cobble stone which was on the pavement was struck by the truck wheel and hurled through the windshield of the car.

The stone, about the size of a man's fist, crashed through the windshield on the side where Mr. Styles was seated, and it struck him full on the shoulder with such force that the shoulder was broken. At the time Mr. Styles was seated in a crouching position in one corner of the seat and had been seated in the usual position the stone would have struck him in the face, probably with sufficient force to inflict fatal injuries.

The driver of the truck, unaware of the accident, continued but was overtaken by Mr. Lamouree and notified of the accident. At Kingston Hospital an X-ray was taken of the injury and later Mr. Styles was taken to his home.

Mrs. Linton Named On Bridge Group

Mrs. Nettie Linton of 46 Green street, former county committee woman and Democratic leader, has been named a member of the Beechhurst Property Owners and Civic Association committee to take part in the opening of the Whitestone-Bronx bridge this week. It was learned today.

Mrs. Linton was active in civic affairs and leader in the movement for erection of the bridge, prior to coming to Kingston to live.

During her residence at Beechhurst about eight years ago Mrs. Linton was a member of the Beechhurst Civic League and was very active in the movement then being started for the erection of this bridge and residents of the town attribute the success of the movement to the continued activity and circulation of petitions which Mrs. Linton carried on.

Dedication exercises will be held Friday, April 28, and as a member of the committee, Mrs. Linton will participate in the ceremonies. Among the distinguished guests will be Mayor LaGuardia, Borough President George U. Harvey, Presidents Lyons of Bronx and Levy of Manhattan.

Opening of the new Whitestone-Bronx bridge will develop the center of the island and give access to beaches and provide a direct route to upper New York state, New England and New Jersey from Long Island.

Tokorow Taken in Charge By Ellis Island Officer

A guard from Ellis Island yesterday took Paul Nicholas Tokorow to New York for deportation to Canada, from which place it is charged, he illegally entered this country a couple of years ago. Tokorow had been held at the Ulster county jail following an accident near Stone Ridge during the investigation of which it was disclosed that he had made illegal entry into this country. He was given suspended sentences on three charges arising out of the accident when arraigned before Justice L. E. Sahler at Stone Ridge Saturday and was then held for the immigration authorities.

Roosevelt Plan Given Approval

ing the president direct charge of the budget bureau. Critics of specific provisions admitted, however, that they were at a great disadvantage in getting any action on their criticisms. Congress cannot reject or amend any section of "Plan No. 1. It must disapprove the whole scheme if at all.

Two more reorganization plans, the President told reporters, are yet to be submitted. These will deal with shifting bureaus from one department to another and with reorganizing the machinery within individual departments.

The intra-departmental reorganization, Mr. Roosevelt said, will include a merger of the six investigative agencies of the treasury, among them the famed secret service.

The three new agencies proposed yesterday will correspond, it is believed, to major departments, although their chiefs will not have cabinet status and will get $12,000 a year compared with the $15,000 paid cabinet officers. Each of the new administrators will have a $9,000-a-year assistant.

It was authoritatively reported that Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC was most likely to become chief of the lending agency. There was speculation that Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security agency, might head the new security agency.

There were unofficial estimates that about 90,000 federal employees would be shifted under the program. Any with civil service status whose jobs are ended will have first call for vacancies. Units to go into the new federal security agency are the social security board, U. S. employment service, office of education, public health service, National Youth Administration and the CCC.

The works agency will consist of the PWA, the WPA, the bureau of public roads, the public building branch of the treasury's procurement management branch of the building management branch of the national park service, and the U. S. housing authority.

Forming the federal loan agency will be the RFC, Electric Home and Farm Authority, RFC Mortgage Company, Disaster Loan Corporation, Federal National Mortgage Association, Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Federal Owners Loan Corporation, Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, Federal Housing Administration and Export-Import Bank of Washington.

Young Man Presented In Recital Program

David Donald Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest M. Hicks of Clinton avenue, a pupil of Lina M. Schmidt, was presented last evening in a short piano recital in the high school auditorium. He was assisted by Leo J. Boice, baritone.

Young Hicks played a program which was professional in its make-up and embraced the works of Beethoven, Chopin, Godard, Tschalkowsky, Jeffery and Schumann. The hallmarked of his performance was a remarkable digital dexterity. The limitations of the instrument hindered the production of round tones but the compositions best rendered were in his second group, the "Hunting Song" of Jeffery, "Venetian" of Godard and "Polacca de Concert" of Tschalkowsky and his closing number "Papillons" by Schumann. Still in his middle teen years and with his technic well developed and at his command, this young pianist will find that the ability for self expression, gained through older emotional experiences will carry him along in the musical career which he has chosen for himself.

Leo Boice, who assisted the pianist, is also a young man. His numbers included "Hear Me! Ye Winds and Waves" by Handel, "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter and "Invictus" by Huhn, the best of which was the Quilter number. He was accompanied by Leonard Stine.

This is the first time in a number of years that Miss Schmidt has presented a pupil in a single recital, invitations to which had been issued to a select group. Not only does it offer an opportunity for the public to hear a young musician but the experience for the pupil is invaluable.

Friends of the young man who acted as ushers were John McCullough, Robert Messinger, Abram Molyneux, James Farrell, William Grothkopf, William Darling, Eugene MacConnell and Richard Dumm.

Following the concert Mr. and Mrs. Hicks were hosts at a reception at their home in honor of their son, Leo Boice, Mr. Stine and Miss Schmidt, which was attended by relatives and friends of the young man.

Boice-Gray

A pretty wedding took place Sunday evening in the Glenford M. E. Church when Miss Elizabeth Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gray, became the bride of Alton Boice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gentzie Boice. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. B. Glenwood. James Stoutenburg sang, "On Promise Me" and the wedding march was played by the church organist, Vivian Stoutenburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in white chiffon, with tight bodice and square neck. Her veil was of tulle caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor was Miss Ethel Gray who wore gold brocade and carried pink roses. Other attendants were Mrs. Herbert Gray, Mrs. Donald DuBois, Mrs. Palmer Conright and Miss Gladys Gray. They wore pastel taffeta and carried pink roses.

Earl Stoutenburg was best man and Ronald Gray and Griffin Stoutenburg acted as ushers. Billy Gray was the ring bearer. A reception followed at the church hall for about 100 guests.

Rathlev-Kraus

Miss Gertrude Kraus, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Kraus of Albany avenue extension and the late Andrew Kraus was married Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to John Rathlev of Floral Park, L. I. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edmund Burke in the rectory of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church.

The bride wore robin-egg blue with dubonnet accessories and a corsage of white roses and valley lilies. She was attended by her sister, Miss Carolyn Kraus, who wore dusty rose with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Richard Koenig of Franklin Square, L. I., was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, and was attended by some 80 relatives and friends. The tables were artistically decorated with spring flowers and ferns. Snare drums, tulips and laurel formed a background for the bride table.

Mr. Rathlev is employed by the Edison Company of New York city and following a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Rathlev will reside in Franklin Square, L. I.

Read the Messages Hidden In Dreams

Understand Dream Symbols

What a strange dream Jack is having! He seems to be losing his eyesight, becoming totally blind.

Awake—he'll probably pooh-pooh his dream. But to a psychologist it spells a warning. Jack's blindness symbolizes emotions undermining his waking life. He's been led to believe that others take advantage of him on the job. Harmful influences "blind" him to the true facts. Unless Jack snaps out of it he'll ruin a splendid future.

Important to heed dreams, no matter how queer or foolish. In sleep the unconscious mind expresses hidden emotions, desires, conflicts, of which our conscious selves are often totally unaware.

Are your dreams violent ones—nightmares of earthquakes, storms? Your own temperament has an unbridled side that you must guard against. Or perhaps you dream of falling off a cliff, wandering endlessly in a dark place?

Our 32-page booklet by a famous psychologist explains the messages such dreams have for you. Discusses dream symbols, how to interpret your dreams to build a richer, better-balanced personality.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of THE MEANING OF DREAMS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Monkey Island
The happiest monkeys in the world are the 500 inhabitants of the island of Santiago, according to visitors who have returned from Puerto Rico. Though now ranging over the tropical paradise like old-timers, the monkey inhabitants were all imported from India this winter. To reach their new home they had to make a journey of 14,000 miles, said to be the longest on record for so large a shipment of animals. With the exception of 25 gibbons, the monkeys are all of the rhesus type which are held sacred in India, and are noted for their rather cross and irritable dispositions.

Kiwanians Entertain Guests at Luncheon

The Kingston Kiwanis held a meeting recently at the Governor Clinton Hotel at which representatives from every community and locality in the county were the guests. All of the guests present were men who are interested in promoting Ulster County as a vacation center. Commissioner Lithgow Osborne, of the State Conservation Department, was the speaker and commended those responsible for the county day at the New York World's Fair and the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival. Commissioner Osborne suggested that it is wiser to promote a section as a vacation center than a community.

JOE DI MAGGIO TO WED ACTRESS

Dorothy Arnold, film actress, whose true name is Dorothy Arnoldine Olson, does a little practicing in her kitchen at Hollywood just after announcing her engagement to Joe Di Maggio, New York Yankee outfielder. In New York, Joe confirmed the engagement, but said: "We may be married next winter or the following winter, but the wedding will not take place while the baseball season is on."

Omaha Will Be Sandwich Man For Premiere of Union Pacific

Omaha, Neb., April 26 (A).—Omaha became today a sandwich man for the cinema.

Along her roped-off streets strolled thousands of newly bearded men and women in wide-bottomed gingham dresses. Indians pitched their tepees on the court house lawn.

Bell boys hopped about hotel lobbies clad in buckskin uniforms, with powder horns hanging from their waists. Shoppers smiled prettily under 1860 hair styles. Bartenders slashed the foam from glasses of beer with sinister hunting knives.

Civic Bender

Officially Omaha was launching a four day civic bender called "The Golden Spike Days," but none had any doubt about the real purpose of the party. Omaha hasn't been growing beards on an estimated 20,000 in its men folk, or putting an equal number of its women into gingham and calico for anything so trivial as a commemoration of the driving of the last spike in the Union Pacific railroad. Omaha is doing all this for Hollywood. Omaha is doing this for the movies.

The picture is "Union Pacific." To make sure that Omaha and the rest of the country realizes just how spectacular it is, Hollywood is sending a special train here for the world premiere Friday—a special train which it says is costing $500,000, counting the salaries of the actors and geniuses who are on it.

Among Those Present bound for the premiere are Cecil DeMille, Barbara Stanwyck, the star who suffers right up to the last reel at which time Joe McRea, who also is aboard the special train, wins her heart and hand, George Raft, and a few others.

From New York on Thursday will come W. A. Harriman, chairman of the board of Union Pacific, and a party of financiers, to join William Jeffers, president of the railroad.

Experts say that never in history has an American city lent itself so frankly to ballyhoo. Citizens are even paying scalpers up to $17 for single tickets to "Union Pacific's" premiere; and the excitement is so high that the picture will have a simultaneous showing in three theatres. New York never did that.

Poles Meet Sunday At White Eagle

Stanislaus Malinowski, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, will be the first speaker on the program, while others scheduled to address the gathering will be prominent Polish leaders of New York city, Poughkeepsie and Germantown.

Man Old at 57 NOW PEPPY, YOUNG AGAIN

"I'm 57. Lacked vim and vigor. But Ostrex made me new, younger." — C. William, Rochester, N.Y. OSTREX contains organic stimulants, obtained from rare natural sources. It gives you a new vigor, a new zest, a new energy. Get it today for sale in all drug stores. Get it today for sale in all drug stores. Get it today for sale in all drug stores.

You be a Man from Missouri

If YOU REALLY WANT the low-down on these new Nash cars, step right up to the next bright and shining face you see behind a Nash windshield. (You may have to shout—for when those windows are up, he can hardly hear anything on the outside.)

Don't be backward—because he's asking to tell you all. Only, if he talks like a man from California, you be a man from Missouri. Don't let him get away with a thing.

When he claims that engine is so smooth he can hardly hear it, edge inside . . . make him step on the starter and prove it. Cock your car . . . and feel the floor-board for the vibration that isn't there.

When he boasts about the terrific pick-up of the new Nash engine—just ride with him up to the next red light. Watch his fingers flick that gear-shift—feel that cushion behind you flatten out.

Then look back to see the other cars!

When he waves his hand in the air then you know he's trying to describe the feeling of the Nash Fourth Speed Forward.* For it's not driving—it's more like flying, and Webster needs new words to describe it.

If you ask about the Nash "Weather Eye", he'll tell you how he drove all last winter without an overcoat. He'll show you now how dust, bugs, drafts, are spirited away forever. (Be sure to see the cigarette trick.)

Just try to get away without him telling about the Nash convertible bed . . . or the special soundproof-

ing and shock-absorbers that only Nash uses.

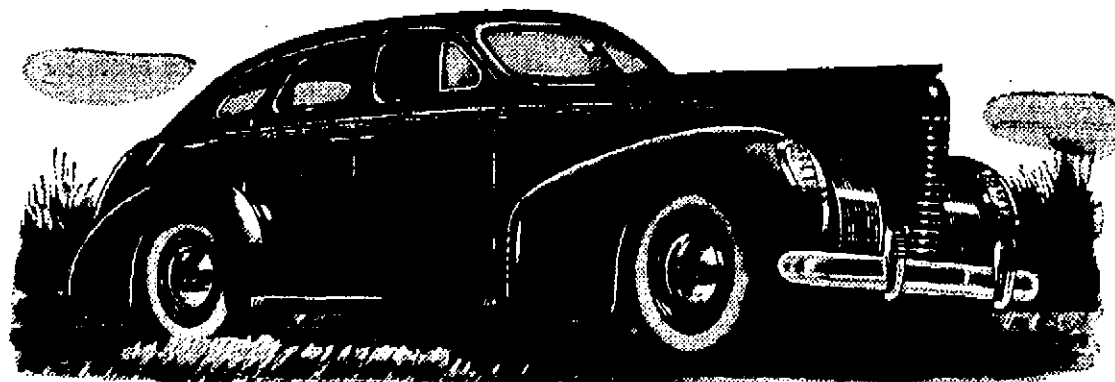

And if he tells you some whoppers about Nash economy, don't try to argue back: For these big Nash-LaFayette models beat all cars in their price class in the Gilmore-Yosemite economy run with 21.25 miles to the gallon.

According to the people who own it, this new Nash is a veritable "Paul Bunyan" of a car. There doesn't seem to be anything it can't do!

Frankly, in all our 24 years, we've never had such enthusiastic owners. We do hope you'll talk to one of them—before you buy this year. And you can't spend much less for a new car—for ten Nash models are priced next to the lowest!

It's that new NASH

All Action Fighters Here Friday; 8 Teams in Catholic League

Punching Pugilists Make Up Program Of 7 Ring Bouts

Dutch Williams and Guy Gallucci in Main Go—Fans Like Raigins-Leger Pairing

Although the headline, Dutch Williams vs. Guy Gallucci, is creating a lot of favorable talk about the Friday night fight card at the municipal auditorium, this heavy-weight brawl is not the only match on the bill that has the fans looking forward to a lot of fast and furious action.

Of course, the two beef trust wallpapers will draw a lot of customers who are anxious to see just what Gallucci can do to prove his claim that a lucky punch gave Williams his knockout victory in their first meeting a couple of weeks ago. The Schenectady Italian says he'll even the count Friday with Newburgh's hard-hitting Dutchman who knocked him out in the second round.

But, the rest of the card seems to come in for its share of conversation, in a favorable way, whenever ring patrons gather to talk over the looks of the weekly fight bill. Among the matches mentioned besides the main go, are promising skirmishes in the semi-final between Charlie Raigins, Saugerties featherweight, and Cliff Leger, Mohawk Indian, who will try to make up for a decision or two he dropped to the Honeyboy.

Connie Lynch, handler of Raigins, who has brought his along successfully, and against stiff opposition too, counts on his little bomber to come through again against the Indian. The Saugerties Irishman says his boy rightfully holds the 126 pound title he won in the tournament conducted by the Adirondack A. A. U. and that he thinks he can take over any of the boys his weight.

Boxing fans behind Raigins point to his recent competition in the national amateur tournament at San Francisco to bolster their faith in him as the winner on Friday. Although he failed to cop a national title, he did clean up in his own district, fighting against the best opposition.

Leger, always an action fighter, and a stiff puncher, for his size, thinks his recent rest will do him a lot of good when he climbs between the ropes with Honeyboy. The rest of the card:

Buddy Bookman, Hurleyville middleweight, a newcomer to Kingston, vs. Hugo Dubaldi, hard-hitting Newburgher.

Roy Collier, Albany, vs. Jess Caprotti, Kingston's 135-pounder.

Alex Gibbons, Albany, vs. Paulie Beck, Poughkeepsie 160-pounder.

Jackie Hogan, Kingston bantamweight, who looks like Jimmy McLarnin, when he first started boxing vs. Tony Garte, Poughkeepsie, who holds one win over him.

Frankie Albright, Kingston windmill, vs. Vic Santore, Schenectady.

Starting time of the first preliminary is 9 o'clock.

Improvements Aid Modern Golfers

Walt Hagen Thinks

New York, April 26 (AP)—Though he's celebrating this summer the 25th anniversary of his first National Open triumph, Walter Hagen still gets the light of battle in his eyes at the suggestion there is a new breed of "super-golfer" trotting the fairways these days.

Specifically, the Haig thinks he and the Bobby Jones of a decade ago could have trimmed the pants off the current crop of hotshots, with their stroke-saving, sand wedges, their "forty-mile" golf balls and their neatly manicured courses that never give a bad lie.

"Do I think Bobby and I could have held our own in a series of matches with Ralph Guldahl and Sammy Snead?" gasped Walter. "Why, I'll tell you what. If Bobby would be willing to take a year from business right now and get himself in shape for a match with these fellows, I would do it, too—no fooling. And then if they wanted to bet us a little on the outcome, that could be arranged."

"Sure, they're shooting a little better average scores than Bobby and I did in our prime," he conceded. "But that doesn't mean anything. This sand wedge they're using now is enough to account for the difference by itself, not to mention that the modern ball rolls 30 or 40 yards further."

In passing, and not necessarily to clinch his argument, Walter mentioned that he had won the British Open four times, the U. S. Open twice and the P. G. A. match play title five times. He wouldn't even guess at how many championships Bobby, his potential partner against the upstarts, had snatched away in his time.

"Thousands, anyhow," he said. "Let's give these boys a little more time to see what they can do about winning championships," he suggested. "Bob and I want a real run for our money when we challenge 'em to that match."

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

By The Associated Press
It is always a pleasure to report that Bruce Campbell again is distributing his headache powders among American League pitchers.

There comes a time each year when the 29-year-old fly-chaser finds the range and lets both barrels go. And since there has been no more courageous figure in the history of sport, you somehow are mighty glad to give Bruce all the credit coming to him.

Bruce has had anything but an easy time of it in his ten years in the big leagues. Three times spinal meningitis has laid him low. Each time the biographers wrote final to his career, and each time he came back.

And there he was again yesterday, although he hadn't been figured much in Ossie Vitt's plans for Cleveland's collapsible Indians this season. What with Jeff Heath, Earl Averill, Ben Chapman and Jule Solters on the roster, it looked as if Bruce were along just for the ride.

Through the first four games, however, Averill was a large "operoo." In 14 official at bats, he couldn't even get a loud foul. So yesterday Ossie benched "the oil" and gave the high sign to Bruce—and Bruce brought his tomahawk with him. He parked two homers to right and drove across five runs, by which the tribe crashed in on Bobby Feller's four-hit flinging to scalp the White Sox, 7-1.

Doals Indians
That tilt marked 18 innings for

Master Robert during which he has allowed just two runs and seven hits, while fanning 18. It boosted the Indians into second place.

The decision, however, didn't cut into the New York Yankees' lead, for the Bombers walloped the woeful Athletics, 8-4. The win was Rufus the Red Ruffing's second straight, but Red had to bow out after the fifth frame because of a pulled muscle.

The Chicago Cubs also continued on their way at the head of the National League parade by knocking off Pittsburgh's pathetic Pirates, 5-3, behind the eight-hit elbowing of Bill Lee, but the Phils remained the big story of the senior circuit.

Take Over Giants
The Phils hadn't put more than three straight together since August of 1937. Yet yesterday they bowled over the New York Giants, 8-1, with Claude Passeau tossing a five-hitter, for their fourth win in a row.

Whitey Moore, "forgotten man" of the Cincinnati Reds, brought himself to mind with a steady twirling job to whip the Cardinals, 5-1. He fanned seven and boosted the Rhinelanders into second place. Brooklyn finally found the combination and nipped the Boston Bees, 3-2.

Fox's Hits Homer
Jimmy Fox's 11th-inning homer gave the Red Sox a 6-5 margin over the Washington Senators, and Rookie John Kramer took a fall out of the proud Detroit Tigers, tossing six-hitter for a 7-2 St. Louis Browns' victory.

Million Flowers Sold Daily
More than 1,000,000 flowers a day are exported each spring from San Remo, Italy, to all parts of Europe by more than 25,000 flower growers. Flowers come second only to the tourist business. A gargantuan flower market built by the city brings more than 4,000 growers with carnations, roses, violets, and mimosas to San Remo every morning. Carnations sell wholesale from $1.50 to $1.75 per 100; roses $1.50 per dozen. Perfect climatic conditions have made the seaside resort a perfect haven for flower growers for more than 100 years.

Height of Crabtree Falls
The Virginia Conservation commission says that Crabtree creek descends in a series of falls or cascades from an altitude of about 3,300-3,400 feet to an altitude of about 1,400 feet in a distance of about two miles in a winding course. Thus the total (vertical) drop of Crabtree creek in a distance of about two miles is approximately 1,900 feet. The highest cascade, called the Grand cataract, is said to make a fall of 500 feet, and the lowest of the five cascades is reported to be about 50 feet high.

Dog Raising 'Don'ts'
Important "don'ts" in raising a puppy:
Don't forget to take the chill off the food.
Don't feed potatoes, lima beans, corn, peas, pork, cake, cookies, or candy.
Don't give a dose of worm medicine just because he is off his food without the advice of your veterinarian.
Don't take your puppy with you while visiting kennels. Distemper is highly contagious and is often carried on the clothes or rugs.
Don't send your puppy to the hospital if it is possible to care for him at home. Have the veterinarian call.
Don't bathe a puppy. Wipe with a damp cloth and brush well. Wait until it is six months old, if possible, before a bath is given.

Senator Blames Rival Tracks for Gulfstream Flop

Tallahassee, Fla., April 26 (AP)—The sponsor of a legislative probe of Florida racing contended today that Miami tracks had been linked with the premature closing of million-dollar Gulfstream Park at nearby Hollywood, but a Miami attorney challenged this as "barking up the wrong tree."

Senator E. R. Graham of Miami, hotel owner and former New York bookmaker, the direct link between Hialeah and Tropical Parks at Miami and the track built by youthful John C. Horning at Hollywood.

Graham, heading an investigation into charges that Horning's track was "killed" by opposing operators after four days' racing this season, said the testimony taken in the committee's first hearings showed Gulfstream could not continue because its change money was suddenly withdrawn.

Harold Kassewitz, Miami attorney, told the committee yesterday Graham was "barking up the wrong tree" in trying to connect the closing with Miami tracks.

Testimony taken at the committee's first two days of hearings showed Fink had betting accounts at both Miami tracks (Hialeah and Tropical Park) and permitted his brother's New Jersey bookmaking establishment to use these credits. Fink also was identified as one of those who supplied $60,000 change money for Gulfstream.
